Still Talking League To Him That Hath —Whiskey Consider the Farmer Will Hays' Program

—By Arthur Brisbane —

Copyright, 1921.

France requests President Harding to accept "a modified league." Europe is slow to realize that Mr. Harding takes over the presidency, not from Woodrow Wilson only, but also from Washington, Jefferson and other Americans with definite opinions as to foreign entanglements.

Europe also should realize that those definite opinions on foreign entanglements were emphasized at the last election by a vote and a majority the greatest ever given to anybody anywhere.

Mr. Harding is in the White House to do what the people of the United States want and, fortunately, HE REALIZES IT.

President Harding has been told by the people of this country that they don't want a League of Nations. They don't want any partnership with Europe. That settles that, or should settle it.

The special session of Congress will meet April 4. Shortly after it will come one of two statements —that the allies have consented to reconsider and rewrite the treaty of Versailles, or that the United States has made a separate peace with Germany.

That will come in spite of the inspired statement, "America cannot now make peace with Germany." America CAN and WILL do exactly that, and should have done it long ago.

A decision by the former Attorney General allows doctors to supply to patients any kind of alcoholic drinks in any quantity. This means that the prosperous man will get what he wants, as much of it as he wants, if he failed to put it in the cellar in time.

Various members of the government, just retired from top to bottom, took with them to their new residences liberal supplies of whiskey, champagne and other alcoholic drinks with government permission.

Under our brand of prohibition the prosperous class can have whiskey, champagne, etc., and move it about. But the ordinary workman, whose life is dull, cannot have a glass of beer. That, however, is not surprising, for it was the intention of the prohibition act. If it had not been clearly understood that the privileged class would be allowed to drink, prohibition never would have gone through.

If you have trouble in your business consider the farmers. In 1920 they raised bigger crops than in 1919, and yet in money their 1920 crop was worth only nine thousand million dollars, against fourteen thousand millions for 1919.

The loss is heavy everywhere, heaviest in the South, where tobacco that ordinarily sells for 20 cents a pound is selling for 24 cents, and if it as low as 1 cent a pound at auction, and where much of the cotton is not picked because it wouldn't pay to pick it.

Where farmers lose five thousand million dollars on a one year's crop, and work, as in the South, actual want and bankruptcy face millions, Mr. Harding can truthfully tell our friends abroad that we have to think about many things besides "helping Europe."

Copper sold yesterday for 12 cents a pound, lowest since February, 1916, when it sold a fraction of a cent lower. Few mines can produce copper at 12 cents. The situation is serious for a big industry. It will continue serious until the nations of Europe make up their minds that real prosperity is not to be found in piracy, but in getting back to work and to construction.

Railroads continue discharging workmen, cutting their wages and watching their stocks drop. There is a well thought-out scheme to have the government buy the railroads at prices to suit the owners.

The government should buy the railroads, paying the owners a fair price in bonds guaranteed by the people, and then run the railroads as Mr. Hays says President Harding intends to run the postoffice—

FIRST, for the convenience of the public.

SECOND, to treat employes decently, fairly and generously.

THIRD, to make money, if possible.

That would solve the railroad problem and help every business man and stabilize labor.

Herr Rathenau and other Germans, usually serious, suggest that Germany might pay the debt that the Allies owe to the United States and thus wipe out the German debt to the Allies.

If there is one thing the Allies do NOT want is to have anybody arrange to pay what they owe the United States. In their minds that debt is labeled "business indefinitely postponed." What they are interested in is "fresh money," not wiping out old debts. If Germans make the suggestion seriously, they lack humor. If they make it as a joke, it is a good joke.

WAGE CUT MAY BRING GREAT STRIKE

Railway Employes Say Men Resent Proposed Wholesale Pay Slashing

Washington, March 11.—Railroad strikes, which may assume nation-wide proportions, are likely to result, if the announced plans of the Pennsylvania, New Haven, New York Central and other lines to make wholesale wage reductions are carried into effect, leaders of railroad labor organizations declared here.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor, however, viewed the situation with somewhat less alarm. Any threat to force wage reductions without consent of the Railroad Labor Board, it was said at the Federation headquarters, is nothing more than a bluff.

SITUATION DANGEROUS.

The two wings of organized labor agree that the contemplated wage cut program, if put into effect, will be nothing short of defiance of law.

A vice-president of one of the big railroad brotherhoods said:

"The Pennsylvania Railroad is playing with a dangerous situation. They know that under the Transportation act they have no legal right to make wage reductions unless they obtain

No Punishment Bad Enough for Clara Smith Hamon She Declares

Ardmore, Okla., March 11.—"I want to see her sent to the electric chair. Every married woman, every mother should pray for her punishment. She is a terrible woman. No home is safe from her kind. No punishment is bad enough for her."

The woman who uttered these words today was the wife in the triangular drama which ended in the death of Jake L. Hamon, Oklahoma millionaire oil man and Republican national committeeman.

With the jury finally selected, the State today was to open its attack on Clara Smith Hamon, on trial for the murder of Hamon. The prosecution was to attempt to prove that Hamon, while dying, declared the woman came to his hotel rooms and while lying on the bed affectionately ruffled his hair with the fingers of one hand and then, with a 25-calibre automatic pistol concealed in the other, shot him in the abdomen.

It was to charge that she purchased the revolver for the special purpose of

Newsboy's Cries Not Nuisance, Says Court

New York, March 11.—"It is perfectly ridiculous to bring up cases like this," said Magistrate McQuade in Jefferson Market Court, when he dismissed Irving Sloan, a newsboy. He was charged with "making an unusual and improper noise, to the inconvenience of pedestrians, at Broadway and Thirty-fourth street". After listening to the testimony of Policeman Reilly, Magistrate McQuade asserted that newsboys were a public benefit instead of a nuisance, and that he had taken the same [illegible] other cases of the same nature.

DYING WARE GIRL TOLD FEAR OF POISON

Husband of Dead Girl and New Bride Unperturbed at Rumors

Ware, March 11.—Mrs. Noella Fountain, the twenty-six-year-old West Brookfield girl whose sudden death on February 2 is being investigated, declared shortly before she died she feared she had drunk poison.

Arthur A. DesForges, her brother, announced today that this was the real reason a probe of the strange circumstances surrounding her death was demanded.

This development was rivalled in public interest today by the discovery that Raymond G. Fountain, husband of the young woman, was married to Grace Russell Gunetis of this town less than a month after Mrs. Fountain died under such peculiar circumstances.

Mr. Fountain and the new Mrs. Fountain are honeymooning here at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, of West Main street.

Neither Fountain nor his bride were apparently greatly disturbed when they returned from a brief wedding trip to find that the body of the first Mrs. Fountain had been exhumed from Mt. Carmel Cemetery, because the authorities were not satisfied with the cause of death as stated on the death return filed in Brookfield Town Hall.

Whether or not Mrs. Noella Fountain was poisoned by orangeade, as

DECLARES $18 A TON FOR FUEL TOO HIGH

State Administrator Says $16.50 Is Enough for Haverhill Coal Men to Charge

Searching investigation of the prices charged Haverhill consumers by the Haverhill coal dealers has been ordered by State Fuel Administrator Hultman, in a letter to Frederick B. McGregor, the local fuel administrator in Haverhill.

The letter, which went forward today, said in part:

"A study of the data already presented to the Commission on the Necessaries of Life does not seem to warrant a continuance of the present high price charged by the Haverhill dealers.

"In view of repeated complaints received in this office from Haverhill consumers, further action by the commission to ascertain whether or not the Haverhill dealers are justified in the charges they are making becomes necessary."

In a statement following the letter Mr. Hultman declared that the dealers of Haverhill are charging $18 a ton for all grades of coal, whereas the fair price is $16.50.

There is no shortage of fuel in Haverhill, said the fuel administrator, who asserted that "If the investigation by the local administrator fails to show justification for the present high prices Haverhill coal dealers will be summoned to a hearing before the Attorney-General to determine whether legal action may be brought against them on charges of gross profiteering and conspiracy."

Prominent Chelsea Citizen Expires in City Hall, After Borrowing Key to Room

Harry James of No. 56 Garland street, Chelsea, banker and prominent lawyer of the firm of Cutler and James, was found dead in a lavatory at the Chelsea City Hall today.

There was a revolver found by his side, though an autopsy by the hall health expert of a shot. Medical Examiner McGrath was notified.

James borrowed a key to the lavatory from Thomas Follansbee of the overseers of the poor department, and when he did not return in fifteen minutes Follansbee summoned John Akins, janitor, who climbed over the transom. Follansbee and Fred J. Rice, State visitor of the Board of Charities, entered the room when Akins opened the door.

All three reported that James' body was found on the floor. They

BIG RAILROAD STRIKE MAY FOLLOW WHOLESALE WAGE CUT

Men in Dangerous Mood, Say Union Officials, Who Declare Roads Are Playing With a Ticklish Situation

"The successive and great advances which have been permitted in passenger and freight rates, which now burden business and the public almost to the breaking point, have been predicted on increases in wages paid railroad labor. Is there any suggestion of reducing these rates?

"The public should bear in mind that there is no overhead cost in employing railroad labor. The wages are fixed, and if for any reason traffic is lessened and trains do not run, the men are not paid. That is, they are on a strictly piece work basis.

IN FIGHTING MOOD.

"Everyone knows that the cost of living has decreased very little, if at all, especially for the laborer. The men are in a dangerous mood. We have a warning in the strike on the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railroad, where a judge overruled the decision of the Railroad Labor Board and granted large reductions in wages. A strike resulted, which now has the road virtually tied up. This condition is likely to be repeated on the Pennsylvania, New York Central, or any other line that attempts sweeping and unauthorized cuts in wages."

Another leader, high in the councils of railroad labor, said:

"The railroads must take care if they wish to avoid being classified with wholesale robbers of the public. They want to reduce the wages of railroad men, while the Esch-Cummins law goes on with its hands in all our pockets.

"The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad, where the employes have struck because it insisted upon reducing their wages in defiance of the law and of the Railroad Labor Board, earned a net profit of $1,570 per mile last year. This is probably a fair indication of the way in which most lines are earning under present rates.

"If the Pennsylvania, New York Central and other lines carry out their wage-cutting programs, the inevitable result will be widespread strikes and final taking over of the railroads by the government.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor declared the wage cuts announced by the Pennsylvania Railroad were "merely a bluff."

"General W. W. Attebury, representative of the railway executives association," said an official, "in a recent statement pledged the railroad managements to proceed according to law. They will hardly violate this pledge by attempting to put wage reductions into effect without the sanction of the Railroad Labor Board. This would place them in the category of wilful lawbreakers."

New Haven, Ct., March 11.—Conferences were begun here today by New Haven Railroad officials with the various classes of unskilled laborers and employes throughout the system on the road's proposal for a reduction in pay of approximately 40 per cent. Five thousand employes are affected. The new rates for them become effective April 4.

Notice has been sent to the classes of employes whose wages were increased on May 1 last, requesting them to select representatives to meet the operating officials here at dates to be fixed later, for conference on the proposed reductions in their wages.

These include, among others, clerks, storekeepers and foremen in various departments, foremen and assistant foremen and mechanics in the maintenance of way departments shop, roundhouse boilermakers and other employes in the shops. It is proposed to reduce the pay of these employes on April 15.

FOUNTAIN NOT INTERESTED IN DEATH PROBE

Ware Man Refuses to Talk About Bride or Former Wife's Illness

she thought, will be known shortly, as the autopsy has been performed, and parts of the body sent to Harvard for analysis.

State detectives are at work on the case. District Attorney Edward T. Esty is conducting the investigation.

The stomach of Mrs. Fountain is being examined today by medical experts of Clark University, but it is not expected that the result of their investigation will be known for at least twenty-four hours.

Meanwhile attention of at least two counties is rivetted on the unusual romance that is so closely interwoven with the West Brookfield young woman's tragic death.

The young wife, mother of a year-old boy and about to be become a mother again, died February 3 after experiencing a series of convulsions, which Dr. Clifford Huyck of West Brookfield said at the time resulted from her condition. Her body was brought here for burial in Mt. Carmel Cemetery.

Fountain was seen in his present wife's company a few hours after the funeral, and since then, excepting for his brief wedding trip, he has made his home with his bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, on West Main street.

He returned to the flat at No. 40 Central street, West Brookfield, only long enough to direct the removal of his furniture. His whereabouts were unknown to his mother and his brothers, and the first knowledge that they had of his marriage was given them by a reporter of the Boston American today.

The couple were married March 4 in Springfield by the Rev. George A. Martin. Fountain is well known both in this town and in West Brookfield, where he was in buiness as a mason and contractor.

Fountain was married to the dead woman four years ago. His wife was Noella Desforges, a native of Ware, and it is the members of her family, living here, whose suspicions led to the exhumation of her body and the resultant investigation.

Dr. Huyck stated today that he made only a superficial diagnosis of Mrs. Fountain's case. He first was called to treat her a week before her death. Her ailment, he states he believed, was due to a sickness which under the circumstances would not be surprising.

On the day before she died, he said, he was hurriedly called to attend her again by her husband. He reached their house in the forenoon and found the woman unconscious. He was successful in reviving her and later he left her, apparently fully recovered, in the care of her husband.

The following day at about the same time, he says, he was summoned again to Mrs. Fountain's bedside. She was in another convulsion. With the unconscious woman was also Mrs. Catherine Flagg and Mrs. George Johnson, neighbors, who had gone there to assist the woman after Fountain had run to them saying that he believed his wife was dying. Mrs. Fountain did not regain consciousness and died within an hour of the doctor's call.

Even Harvard Purists Slip Occasionally

When grammarians fall out it is the time for the sponsors of the "ain'ts" to snicker. And this is just what has happened at Harvard. It is concerning the word "forecast," or as members of the faculty use it, "forecasted."

"Will not some expert on English tell us whether there is authority for 'forecasted'?" queries the Harvard Alumni Bulletin editorially.

"We had a definite opinion on that point until we saw that learned Harvard professors were doing what had seemed to us to be wholly wrong. Why should the preterite or past participle of the verb 'to forecast' be formed differently from the verb 'to cast'?

'SEND HER TO CHAIR,' CRIES HAMON WIDOW

killing him, that she had threatened to shoot him and had attempted to take his life several times before.

The widow of the oil king, who has entered Ardmore's famous murder trial in the role of the wronged wife, makes no attempt to conceal her hatred of the girl who had her husband fourteen years.

She may be imagined as the figure of vengeance as she sits opposite the accused girl in the courtroom. A tall, commanding blonde, she presents a striking contrast to the young woman who is slim and dark.

Only a few witnessed the incident which occurred in the court just before the final juror had been selected and the court had recessed to give the defendant a few moments outside the crowded and close room.

As the young woman walked away with her sister and mother, the widow cried hysterically:

"She forced me to be here and sit where she can stare at me. She is a terrible woman. Once I wanted to throw acid in her face. Now I wish I had."

ORDEAL FOR BOTH.

Speaking to a newspaper woman, she said: "If you were married you would not be writing stories defending that woman. You know what I have suffered."

Olive Belle, her eleven-year-old daughter, and young Jake, the eighteen-year-old son, clung to her, begging her to calm herself.

The session was a trying ordeal for both women in the case. H. H. Brown, special prosecutor for the county, had arranged the widow's chair so that it stood in juxtaposition to the girl's on the other side of the attorney's table.

The widow sat facing the jury and could avoid looking at the young woman, but the latter's position was such that she had to turn her eyes in other directions to keep from staring at the woman.

The defence has indicated that it will attempt to tear down the State's testimony that the oil king on his deathbed accused the young woman of killing him in cold blood by charging that there is a conspiracy on the part of Hamon interests to convict the girl.

GERMANS RUSH GOODS AWAY TO EVADE TAX

Roads Crowded With Carriers of Merchandise to Escape Impost by Allies

Berlin, March 11.—Great quantities of goods are being moved in western Germany to avoid the allied customs penalties, according to the following dispatch today from Mannheim:

"Every available wagon, truck and motor car, filled with goods manufactured in the occupied zone, have been crowding the roads all night and all day yesterday. These vehicles are bringing the goods into unoccupied territory before the allies erect their 'customs barrier' for the imposition of heavy duties.

"So great has the traffic become that it was necessary to establish a special police force along the road to keep them open."

Foreign Minister Walter Simons in reporting to the Reichstag Foreign Affairs Committee upon the course of negotiations in the London indemnity conference, admitted he exceeded the prescribed limits of the German counter-proposals, but explained that he had been led to do so by the hope of receiving credits, it was learned today.

The German cabinet had previously approved Dr. Simons' report upon the indemnity conference. Whether there will be any changes in the cabinet over the admission that the foreign minister had acted upon his initiative in expanding Germany's indemnity offer into a larger sum than approved by the German experts was not apparent.

PRUSSIAN CABINET OUT.

It was said that much would depend upon the complexion of the new Prussian cabinet appointed to succeed the ministry which resigned yesterday.

Herr Stresemann, leader of the German People's party, and Dr. Helfferich, leader of the Nationalists and former Minister of the Treasury, both criticised Dr. Simons at the Reichstag foreign affairs committee meeting for offering the allies indemnity of 3,000,000,000 gold marks annually for thirty years. They said that this was beyond Germany's ability to pay.

Dr. Simons was defended by Eugene Schiffer, former Vice-Chancellor, Hugo Stinnes, the great industrial magnate and one of the members of the committee of fifteen German experts that drew up the counter-proposals, was present at the committee meeting, but did not speak.

The meeting brought out the fact that many of the experts on the German commission had disagreed upon the original counter proposals, contending that the sum offered by Germany was too high.

(Note—In the original counter-proposals Germany offered future payments of 30,000,000,000 gold marks. She contended that this would bring her total indemnity up to 50,000,000,000 gold marks, as 20,000,000,000 gold marks already had been paid.)

SIMONS RETAINS OFFICE.

After the meeting of the Reichstag Foreign Affairs Committee, there were evidences of a more friendly feeling towards Dr. Simons, even on the part of Nationalists, who had previously condemned his indemnity proposals in strong language. The Nationalist leaders, however, came to a compromise and it was decided to oppose Dr. Simons' resignation on the ground it might be construed outside of Germany as an evidence of national weakness.

Defenders of Dr. Simons explained that the Foreign Minister was touring southern Germany just before the London conference opened and at the time while the committee of experts was meeting in this city. Consequently, they explained, he was not closely in touch with the experts, which might have led to some misunderstanding.

From an authentic source it was learned that at the Cabinet meeting Thursday, when President Ebert presided in person, it was decided that "the carrying out of indemnity penalties by the allies—both military and economic—creates an entire new situation between Germany and the entente upon the matter of reparations."

The Cabinet holds that the London offer, which was made the basis of the allied penalties, cannot be accepted as the basis of any new negotiations in the future. The ministry takes the stand that Germany will renew her pledge to carry out the treaty of Versailles, but at the same time, demands that the allies also adhere to the treaty.

ALLEGE VIOLATION BY ALLIES.

The Cabinet takes the view that the allied sanctions or penalties were a violation of the treaty of Versailles, pointing out that under the terms of the treaty Germany had until May 1 to begin payment of indemnity.

The Germans contend that they should not be punished for non-payment until the whole period of time had expired during which they might begin making payments.

It was declared that the German government had no intention of making any new indemnity proposals to the allies.

The future German program as submitted to the Reichstag Foreign Affairs Committee was said to be covered by the following general outlines:

Germany will remain passive and will make no hostile move to prevent further military and economic penalties by the allies. The German government will expect the allies to compute the sum they expect Germany to pay, accompanied by data proving that Germany can pay. This amount is expected to be made known to Berlin by May 1. The German government believes that the new situation created will lead the allies to revise their original indemnity demands.

Nationalists have expressed the hope that France will occupy even more German territory, believing that such action would have the effect of uniting the German people. The Nationalists and Bolsheviki are carrying on active propaganda, especially in Bavaria.

Auto Truck Crashes Into Quincy Store

Alexander Hall was busy waiting upon three customers in his boot and shoe store at Franklin and Water streets, Quincy, today, when without warning the radiator and hood of a large five-ton truck poked itself through one wall of the store, carrying with it all the shelves on that side, and scattering shoes, rubbers and boots over the floor.

The truck is the property of the P. M. Leavitt Company, wholesale grocers of Boston, and was driven by Charles Howlett of Dorchester.

According to the story Howlett told, he had swerved his machine to avoid a collision with another truck, run upon the sidewalk and smashed into the building. The damage amounted to $750. The truck was unharmed.

admitted a revolver was found aside of James' body.

No one could be found in the hall who would say that there was a bullet wound in any part of James' body.

City Physician John Mahoney, who was summoned, ordered the room door locked until the arrival of Medical Examiner Magrath. The latter was reached by telephone and gave orders to the police to allow no one to touch the body of James or disturb the revolver.

James was a former city solicitor of Chelsea, past president of the Chelsea Board of Aldermen, and vice-president of the National Bank of Chelsea. He was well known in Republican party circles. He was fifty-three years old, married, and leaves a wife, son and daughter.

Following the finding of the body news spread rapidly that James had committed suicide. Great excitement prevailed in City Hall. Telephones were kept busy announcing the death of James.

Cutler and James have an office in the Pemberton Building. At the office today it was stated that Mr. James had been suffering for some time from nervous depression.

JEWISH CHARITIES SEEKING $125,000

An appeal for $125,000 for the Federated Jewish Charities has been made by Louis E. Kirstein, chairman of the emergency committee, to relieve conditions resulting from unemployment and business depression. The budget for the fiscal year, which began last October, was $340,000, and $125,000 is needed to complete that amount, Mr. Kirstein announced at a meeting in the Elysium Club. Teams were organized to canvas for subscriptions. Mrs. A. K. E. Prager was appointed chairman of the women's committee.

MRS. STILLMAN ASKS $120,000 ALIMONY

N. Y. Banker and Wife Sue Each Other for Divorce; Dispute Over Child

Casual mention of staggering sums of money and a desparate attempt at secrecy characterize the cross suits, which are of lively interest to New York's smart set.

Stillman in his suit is understood to have made serious charges against his wife in connection with happenings at the Stillman Summer camp near Three Rivers, Que.

Fighting her motion for alimony, his lawyers declared that while his income last year was $800,000, it was reduced to $270,000 after he had paid his income tax. It is understood that for some time Mr. Stillman has been "paying" his wife $60,000 a year.

According to those who have followed the affairs of the Stillmans closely the case will centre about a child known as "Guy Stillman," whose right to a share in the huge estate of Mr. Stillman's father, the late James A. Stillman, Sr., will be questioned.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman, as listed in the Social Register, are Anne and James.

The action and counter-action were instituted before Justice Morschauser in the Supreme Court of the second judicial department, ninth district, at Poughkeepsie. Full advantage was taken by both sides of the provision that complaints and answers need not be filed until the actions are finished and judgments rendered.

Daniel J. Gleason of Poughkeepsie was appointed referee to hear testimony in Mr. Stillman's suit. John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie was named guardian of the boy known as Guy Stillman.

Mr. Mack of Poughkeepsie refused to discuss his guardianship of the mystery child, Guy Stillman: "I am neither denying nor admitting anything," he said. "I am simply refusing to talk."

Further mystery entered the case when it was learned Referee Gleason recently held a hearing on Mr. Stillman's action and that a number of French-Canadians from near the Stillman camp at Three Rivers, P. Q., were called as witnesses.

What these witnesses were asked was as great a mystery when they left as when they came. They were carefully guarded from interviewers.

Mrs. Stillman is the daughter of Mrs. James Brown Potter. She became estranged from her mother when Mr. Potter divorced her, but a reconciliation was effected some years ago.

Mr. Stillman is a Harvard graduate and was a member of the varsity crew. He is one of the youngest bank presidents in New York. He was elected president in 1919, to succeed Frank A. Vanderlip.

Mr. Stillman is an officer or director of the American Alliance Insurance Company, the American International Corporation, the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal Company and many other big corporations.

BILLIG BEAT OUT 'OLD MAN' IN EFFORT TO GET 'THE PAPERS'

New York, March 11.—Preliminary and tempting beginnings of the tale of a melodramatic transcontinental race for "the papers," were sketched in servant testimony in the high colored trial of the suit of W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, for divorce from Helen Elwood Stokes, formerly of Denver.

"The papers" of the melodrama in this instance are indicated to be hotel registers or certain entries therein. The scenes seem, according to the witness, to have shifted through a number of cities from New York on the east to Denver on the west.

Hal C. Billig of Denver, named as one of a number of co-respondents in the suit brought by the wealthy former proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, is pictured as speeding from city to city ahead of detectives who were pursuing hotel registers for Stokes.

$40 FOR COURT SEATS.

This promising incident of testimony came in the direct examination of Mrs. Julia Strube, an employe in the Stokes home in the period covered by the issues of the case and the day's session closed with her cross-examination yet to be completed by Martin W. Littleton for the defence, whose line of questioning has as yet hardly revealed the major theme of defence.

The day was occupied with the examination of Mrs. Strube and the preceding witness, Anna Brennan, a maid in the Stokes service and an intimate of Mrs. Strube. A packed and breathless courtroom audience sat in continuous attendance on the drama of millionaire life in New York as seen from the back stairs.

A long line, sometimes more than two hundred strong, stood like a theatre queue in the halls outside the courtroom hoping for seats. There was gossip in the corridors of an uptown rich man who was said to have offered forty dollars to any one who would vacate two good seats for him.

SPARED NOTHING.

The recital of life inside the Stokes home as it appeared to the servants went into intimacies that spared nothing from the boudoir to the bathroom medicine cabinet, while lingerie, corsets, stockings and the careful description of various progressive stages of dress and undress, filled every hour of the session with interest.

Anna Brennan's testimony detailed in some confusion, under rigid questioning broken by many objections from the defence, what she saw and heard in the period of late December, 1918, and early January, 1919, and included the admission that she had been continued on the payroll by Stokes after she had departed from the Stokes residence as a sequel to what she described as "the rumpus."

Mrs. Strube came to the stand to supplement and fill the interstices of the picture built up by Anna Brennan, the friend who had brought her into the employ of Mrs. Stokes. Mrs. Strube described herself as now a "dietician" employed by a hotel. When she got to cross examination Martin Littleton after striving clarified this by translation to "running the restaurant."

GOT AHEAD OF 'OLD BOY.'

On direct examination by Francis L. Wellman, counsel for Stokes, Mrs. Strube told of visits by Billig to Mrs. Stokes' room, after breakfast, when Mrs. Stokes was said to be not completely dressed.

"When was she least dressed?"

"Well, she had on stockings." There was a pause.

"And slippers and a corset and something else."

Again a pause.

"Maybe it was bloomers."

Mrs. Strube told of a conversation between Billig and Mrs. Stokes at table, in the absence of Mr. Stokes. "This conversation followed a trip of Mr. Billig's on which he was said to have been away some two weeks.

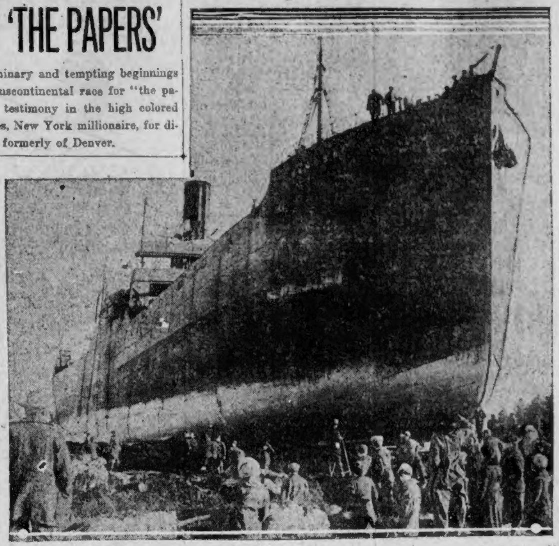

"When he came back Mr. Billig said he had been out to Denver and various places. He said that Mr. Stokes had sent ahead of him to different hotels.

"'But,' he said, 'I got ahead of the old boy and got the rigisters. I had quite a time,' he said, and that it had cost him a good bit of money."

Ship on Rocks Off Maine May Be Abandoned

The British freighter Wanby, which sank a submaring during the war, is fast on a rocky ledge. If she is saved it will be after strenuous efforts by salvage experts.

Kennebunkport, Me., March 11.—Salvage operations on the big British freighter Wandby, which ran aground on the rocks just inside of Walker's Point, Wednesday, were discontinued today until March 23, when the tides will run much higher. The vessel may have to be abandoned.

The freighter grounded in a dense fog, and Captain David Simpson says that he thought she was off Cash's Fishing Bank, sixty miles southwest of Portland Lightship, when she struck. He mistook the whistling buoy off Cape Porpoise, two miles east of Walker's Point, for one on Ammen Rock, Cash's Bank.

The coast guard cutter Ossipee, which had been standing by to render assistance, has left. The Wanby's holds, ballast tanks and coal bunkers are flooded, and the task of floating her is going to be a difficult one, said salvage experts.

Captain Simpson said today that he fears the ship, which he had commanded for five years, and in which he sank a German submarine during the war, will have to be abandoned.

COUNSEL CLASH AT TRIAL OF BRIGHTWELLS

Hurwitz' Allusions to Ponzi Objected to by Attorneys for Defence

Frequent clashes between counsel marked the actual opening of the case against President Charles M. Brightwell, Mrs. Brightwell and twelve others formerly connected with the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company in Superior Court today. The courtroom was crowded.

Lawyers for the various defendants strenuously objected to the action of Assistant Attorney-General Hurwitz in referring to the Ponzi affair in his opening address.

Attorney Daniel V. McIsaac, counsel for Brightwell, led the fight to have such references excluded.

Judge Fessenden, presiding, allowed the argument to proceed, but said he would expect Hurwitz to establish some connection later to justify his allusions to Ponzi.

The clashes arose when Hurwitz said that "on July 20, about the time Ponzi's success began to attract nation-wide attention," some of the Old Colony defendants opened an office in the same building with him on School street.

Following Judge Fessenden's ruling, Assistant Attorney-General Hurwitz continued with his argument.

$383,000 RECEIVED.

He said Brightwell, one of the Meyers brothers and "possibly" Gunnar Lindblad, changed their plan about July 20, and began to get out notes similar in style and content to those put out by Ponzi.

They promised, he said, to pay 50 per cent. interest within ninety days. Working on this plan, $383,000 was taken in. Some of the agents got 10 per cent. commission, some twelve, some fifteen.

Mrs. Brightwell, wife of the president of the company, was used as "an instrument" in the scheme, Prosecutor Hurwitz charged. He said she got $26,000 of the sum collected and never returned it for the benefit of the creditors.

Hurwitz stated the charges against the fourteen defendants were variously, larceny, conspiracy to steal and being accessory to larceny.

He charged that the money collected was obtained by false pretences, and among the alleged untrue statements he said agents used in attracting investors were the following:

CLAIMS BY COMPANY.

That the concern was doing a big business in Europe in foreign exchange, and had a big corps of European agents.

That the money collected was being spent in legitimate business enterprise.

That the company could pay 50 per cent. interest in ninety days.

3 BOYS JAILED IN MALDEN GIRL CASE

Claims She Was Drugged, Kidnaped and Kept Prisoner Two Days in Shack

Thomas M. Powell, nineteen years old, of No. 56 Russell street, Malden, George L. Blakely, eighteen, of No. 1 Greenwood Terrace, and Lester J. Nortan, nineteen, of No. 50 Green street, were arrested by the Malden police as the result of a story told by Doris Johnson, fourteen years old.

The girl alleges she was kidnaped while on her way to school and after being chloroformed was taken to Lynn and kept in a shack for two days.

According to the kidnaped girl, she left her home at No. 25 Upham street, on her way to school, when three young men grabbed her and, after a struggle, she became unconscious. When she regained consciousness, she said, she found herself in a deserted shack in the Lynn woods.

HEARS OF MOVE TO 'SQUEEZE' CITY ON LIGHT

Watson Says Legal Department Warned Council of Edison Company Plan

Regarding the statements of Attorney F. M. Ives, counsel for the Edison Company, made at a public hearing before the Boston City Council, that the body held a secret meeting to get its members' assent to the payment by the city of $80,000 in coal clause charges for street lighting, Councillor James A. Watson today issued the following statement:

"Mr. Ives knows more of the doings of the Council in executive session than I, who was present, concerning the question of the probability of the city being charged $200,000 for coal charges for the years 1919-1920 for the lighting of the City of Boston's streets.

"Now he has raised this question I would say as definitely as I can and in as strong language as possible that no offer of compromise concerning this matter has been presented to the executive committee of the City Council, of which I am chairman.

NO ACTION TAKEN.

"We were informed, as I remember it, by the law department, through its agent, that there was a possibility, in fact a probability, that here would be an attempt made by the Edison Company to squeeze the city financially to the extent of $200,000 in street lighting costs. There was no disapproval, nor was there any approval of the proposition, as it was only tentative.

"I note from the press that the Edison Company in fullness of its heart and through its lover for the dear people, as a denial of the charges that it is a colossal profiteer, will reduce the consumers' lighting bill to the event of 6 per cent. of the coal charges.

"To better illustrate what this means—if a merchant uses $10 worth of electricity in a given month, in addition to this $10 approximately 10 per cent. is added for charges under the coal clause, which means that total bill would be $11.

"The Edison Company plans to take off 6 per cent. of the coal charges, making them about 94 cents instead of $1, so that the consumer's bill will be $10.94 instead of $11. This is the extent of its liberality.

CAMBRIDGE SITUATION.

"I wish to call the attention of the Edison Company officials to the fact that I have in my possession a bill for one month, ending March 7, 1921, from the Cambridge Electric Lighting Company, of $12 for electricity used, at 9 cents per kilowatt hour, plus 10 cents, which is less than 1 per cent., for coal charges, the total of the bill being $12.10.

"For purposes of comparison, let me say that in the Cambridge Electric Lighting Company bill there is a reduction of 90 per cent. in coal charges, which is now in effect, against a reduction of 6 per cent. by the Edison Company of Boston, whose total charge is nearly 11 cents per kilowatt hour, against the 9 cents charged in Cambridge.

"The Citizens' Committee, composed of Councilors Donahue, Ford, Ex-Alderman Blyler of Cambridge, Councilor Leahy of Cambridge, Whitfield Tuck of Winchester, and W. J. O'Hara, of the Metal Trades' Council, and myself, with the active co-operation of the press—particularly of the Boston American—are planning to call a mass meeting in the very near future. This meeting will arrange to actively fight Senate Bill No. 314, by the House of Representatives Tuesday next, to capitalize premiums by the electric lighting companies of Massachusetts.

"This bill, is passed, involves the gift of $50,000,000 to the stockholders of the lighting companies, which must come out of the pocketbooks of the consumers of gas and electricity in this Commonwealth.

"The Citizens' Committee seeks the co-operation and moral support of every consumer in its efforts."

GERMAN LOTTERY ADS FLOODING MANCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., March 11.—The city of Manchester has been flooded with German lottery appeals coming from Ernest Schultz, Berlin, Germany. The communications have been sent to all sorts of people, including ministers and lawyers as well as workers in the shops and mills. No attempts are made to disguise the fact that it is a lottery, the capital prize being named and directions given for forwarding money. The matter has been reported to the postal authorities by Postmaster Willis. No orders have been as yet received in regard to the lottery mail at the local postoffice.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE IN PETROLE FOR THE WOMAN WITH POOR HAIR

Few Weeks' Application Will Intensify Natural Beauty and Dandruff Leaves

There is a pleasant surprise in Noonan's Hair Petrole for the woman whose hair is dry, brittle, split ends, and who can never keep it in place. Dandruff also plays an important part to make the hair lifeless. One is really surprised how quickly such ailing hair responds to a little attention. Noonan's Hair Petrole will soon rid the scalp of dandruff, the hair becomes soft, glossy and fluffy and can be dressed in almost any style. The odor is mild and pleasing and the dressing is not at all conspicuous. Barbers apply it 15 cents treatment or you can buy it by the bottle at drug or dept. stores for $1.00, or direct from the manufacturers, T. Noonan & Sons, 38 Portland st., Boston, Mass.

Chiropractor Cures 19-Day "Sleeper"

Arthur A. Clark, aged thirteen, who has laid in a coma for nineteen days, a supposed victim of sleeping sickness and whose case has attracted the attention of the medical fraternity of this State, was today apparently restored to health by a chiropractor, according to Mrs. David H. Clark, his mother.

A Boston chiropractor, reading of the boy's illness in the Boston American, paid an unsolicited visit to the Wakefield home of the youth. He asked the patient's mother to allow him to examine the patient. The chiropractor passed his hand over the boy's spine. He found a veterbra out of alignment.

A few skillful manipulations with the chiropractor's trained hands the spine was adjusted, and presto, the boy awoke. He recognised his mother and his surroundings and immediately got out of bed, dressing himself unassisted.

PLAYS FOR AN HOUR.

His mother states he was normal for about an hour, playing with his brothers and sisters. He then informed his mother that he felt weak, and after resting in bed for half an hour again arose and stayed awake for six hours.

"He is weak from his nineteen days of illness," his mother stated, "but I believe he has been permanently cured."

The chiropractor said today he is convinced the cure is permanent.

"About a minute after I adjusted his spine," he said to a Boston American representative, "the boy awoke and wanted to get up. I told him to stay in bed a few minutes, but he was anixous to get up, so I let him dress.

"His face began to regain normal color and he could talk coherently and understood what was said to him."

PARALLEL CASE.

The case parallels in novelty and interest to the medical world the recent illness which afflicted Miriam Rubun, eight years old, of Waukegan, Ill., who talked continuously for nineteen days and who was also cured by a chiropractor who found the second and third vertebrae of the girl's spine out of alignment and restored her in two minutes by the same methods used in the case of the Clark boy.

The Wakefield youngster, when first stricken ill, had a mania for clipping pictures out of newspapers and magazines. After the constant use of a pair of scissors for seventy-two hours the boy fell into a coma which lasted for nineteen days.

Struck by the feat of the Illinois chiropractor, the details of which he read in the Boston American, the Boston expert after studying newspaper accounts of the Wakefield boy's illness, believed that the patient's condition might be due to the same form of spinal trouble, an investigation apaprently proving the truth of his theory.

FOES OF SOVIET NOW FORMING COALITION

London Hears All Opponents of Bolsheviki Are Uniting to Gain Control

London, March 11.—All of the Russian anti-Bolshevik factions are uniting in the formation of a coalition government at Reval, with General Volynski as premier, according to a Central News dispatch from Helsingfors today.

Leaders in the Reval government say that there will be a movement against the Soviet in Russia at the earliest possible moment.

Russian Rebels Are Ordered to Disarm

Moscow, March 6 (Via Wireless to Berlin, March 11).—"The insurgent venture at the Fortress of Kronstardt is collapsing," said an official communique issued by the Soviet today.

"Leon Trotsky, people's commissar for war, has issued a proclamation ordering all mutineers to surrender their arms and to deliver up all non-rebel prisoners and to release all the government commissars and other officials who had been captured."

High Prices Back of Russian Uprising

Riga, March 10 (Via London), March 11.—The scarcity of food and the high price of such food as there is, furnished the chief cause of the anti-Soviet uprising in Russia, according to reliable information received here today.

If the Russian ruble had its old pre-war value and food prices were taken at their present-day level, one pound of butter in Moscow would cost $7,000, and a pound of sugar would cost $7,500.

It must be admitted, however, that the value of the Russian ruble seems to have reached the irreducible minimum. From December to March, food prices in Moscow have advanced as follows:

Butter, from 7,000 to 14,000 rubles; sugar, from 7,000 to 15,000 rubles. Potatoes, from 14,000 to 40,000 rubles; meat, from 800 rubles to 4,000 rubles per pound; black bread, from 800 to 2,000 rubles per loaf; white bread, from 1,500 to 3,500 rubles per loaf.

MARY PICKFORD RESENTS MOVE BY NEVADA

Counsel Declares Action to Re-open Divorce Case Is Without Warrant

Reno, Nev., March 11.—In fifty-one typewritten pages counsel for Mary Pickford Fairbanks replied to the brief of Attorney-General Fowler of Nevada, by which the State seeks to set aside the divorce decree granted to the motion picture star from Owen Moore last Summer.

The brief filed by Miss Pickford's attorneys does not enter into any controversy regarding the divorce itself, but interposes myriad legal objections to the procedure of the State in attempting to reopen the case.

The brief previously filed by the attorney-general held that the divorce decree had been obtained fraudulently, as the court at Minden did not have jurisdiction. It was also contended that neither party to the litigation had a legal residence in Nevada.

The brief filed by Miss Pickford's lawyers reads in part as follows:

"Just as asserted in the oral argument, we must insist that the attempt of the Attorney General to make the State of Nevada a party against two litigants in a matter in which the State has nothing more than 'fictional' interest is entirely without warrant.

"The Attorney General has failed to disclose anything in the laws of the State of Nevada countenancing the theory now advanced for the first time, that the Attorney General has the right of review in all divorce cases, and has the power either to interfere with the established and orderly processes of law or to disturb their judgments."

NAVAL RESERVES OFF ON CRUISE TO FLORIDA

Eagle boat 28, manned wholly by naval reserve officers and men, has started on a cruise that will extend as far as Key West, Florida. The boat left the Charlestown Navy Yard in command of Commander William W. Ramsay. He has seven other reserve officers and a crew of fifty-seven, all of the reserve force under him. The ship is expected back at the yard by March 26.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS AND NOTES

Mary Lewis Tells How It Feels to Act All Over the Streets of Hollywood

By FRIEDA DAVIS.

IT was after the matinee of the "Greenwich Village Follies" and Mary Lewis danced her way off the stage in her gold and white directoire costume. Miss Lewis is lending her talents to the speaking, or rather, singing and dancing stage now, but a few months ago she was playing comedy parts in the Christie pictures in Hollywood.

"Oh, it's such fun," she gasped, as she sank down in a chair in the wings. "I love playing on the stage because the audience is right there in front of you and you can actually see them enjoying everything. That's one advantage the stage has over the screen.

"When you're acting before a silent camera, a boxing director and a stony-faced camera-man you can't always keep in mind the thousands, even millions of faces that will eventually see you.

"I'm awfully glad to have had a chance to go into pictures, because of the training. Making comedies for Christie is—well, it's nothing short of 'rushing business.' They make about three comedies a week and literally dash from one right into another. I've played the hero's maiden aunt in one film on Monday and then on Tuesday started in being the ice man's sweetheart."

STARTED IN ON SLAPSTICK.

"I'm too tall for the ingenue leads in comedies—you've noticed that they're all small girls—and so I had to play the more knock-about parts. I had no experience at all when I started, that is, in slapstick. I had been on the stage in San Francisco, my home, and went to Los Angeles for a while with a show. There I met Al Christie, who told me that whenever I wanted to come back he could use me in his pictures.

"Of course I came. Did you ever hear of anyone turning down the checks the movie producers offer? When I heard what I was to do I almost took the train for Frisco. The only thing that saved me was Mr. Christie's solemn word that he never used custard pies in his pictures.

"At first it was awful funny working right out on the streets in queer costumes and make-ups. My hair was screwed back tight and my eyebrows were formed in great arcs that made me look frightened to death. I thought it was fortunate that no one could recognize me, but after all it didn't matter.

"People in Hollywood are so used to seeing companies working out on the streets in all sorts of peculiar get-ups that they don't even bother to look at us now. Sometimes three different companies are taking scenes on one block. I've often wondered what would happen if a house really burned down or a burglar really broke into a home. People would think it was 'all for art.'

"I love Hollywood. There's such a happy, friendly air about it. Nearly everyone there is connected with pictures in some way and all have the same hearts.

THE MOVIE "STUNT" PARTIES.

"There's always a lot of talk about the parties the movie people give. Some say they're 'wild' and that we don't have any idea of dignity and common sense. That's not really so. While we work we work hard, and while we play, we make a business of playing. But we aren't what they like to call 'wild.'

"The point is that nearly everyone out there has a specialty and when we are together we insist on having each one do his particular stunt. It's fun and I suppose you can't always call it really dignified, but is it lacking in common sense?

"The reason I left the coast was because I had a chance to go on the stage here and as I'd never been to New York I snapped it up. I'm planning to go back sometime, though, in spite of the silence of the camera and even in the face, literally, of custard pies. Those are small things compared to the benefits of the movies."

Mae Murray looks things over carefully when she goes to the studio in the morning.

CAMERA CLICKS.

BEATRICE DOMINGUEZ, a leading lady with Universal, who was stricken with appendicitis last week while she was working on "The White Horseman," died at the Clara Barton Hospital in Los Angeles. She was a member of one of the oldest Spanish families in California.

MARY PICKFORD and Douglas Fairbanks have left their studios behind for a recreation tour which will take in points from Mexico City to New York.

AFTER four weeks of appearing on the stage in Los Angeles in "Penrod," Wesley Barry has left the cast to take up his movie work. His place has been taken by Bessie Alexander, who made such a hit in Griffith's picture, "Hearts of the World."

CHARLIE MURRAY has given up his proposed vacation trip to Honolulu and has hurried to New York, where his daughter is seriously ill.

THEIR REAL NAMES.

MOST OF the causes for the change of names are more or less obvious, but there are quantities more who change for little or no reason.

Gladys Smith became Mary Pickford years before she went into films. When she went on the stage at the age of five, her name was changed, why, no one knows, least of all Miss Pickford. "What's the matter with Smith?" she asks. Betty Lawson left Arlington, Mass., several years ago and went to New York to star with Fox and Pathe. There they declared that she must be known as Dana Caprice, and now even her best friends don't know who you mean when you speak of Betty Lawson.

Marjorie Daw's real name is Margaret House, but she went into films at a time when names were being changed right and left. Kathleen Morrison's name started to change even before she became a screen player. As a child her grandmother called her Colleen, until everyone else did it, too. "Colleen's all right," her director decided, "but we'll change the last name to Moore. Why? Oh, because." Now Colleen Moore is a well-known player with Marshall Neilan and King Vidor's companies.

Ines Williams' name was too long, according to Al Christie, who makes the Christie comedies, so he shortened it to Devore, then changed her first name to Dorothy to get the alliteration. Who doesn't know Doris May, who made such a hit when she co-starred with Douglas McLean in Thomas Ince's pictures? Before she started her movie career she was known as Helen Garrett.

Shakespeare asked, "What's in a name?" And the movie player answers "I don't know, let's change it!"

'WETS' SEE ERA OF BEER AND WINES

Palmer's Ruling Sustained by Daugherty Heralded as "Opening Wedge"

A return to "sanity" and "honest temperance" was predicted by wets today as a result of the farewell ruling of former Attorney-General Palmer placing beer in the class of medicinal and non-beverage liquors.

Cheered by the statement of Attorney-General Daugherty that the ruling would stand, the wets embarked on a career of feverish activity in preparation for what they believe to be the return of beer and light wines.

The ruling of Mr. Palmer was considered to constitute an opening wedge, and the drys were frankly concerned as a result, even expressing the opinion that the problem of enforcement would lead to a national scandal.

Those breweries that have continued to do business by turning out near-beer were planning to omit the alcoholic reduction and turn out old-fashioned beverages with alcoholic content of about 4 per cent. In making near-beer it is necessary to brew real beer first, and then reduce the alcoholic content.

TO MAKE REAL BEER.

Jacob Ruppert of New York announced that he would begin manufacture of real beer immediately, and other large brewers in and about that city declared they would adopt a similar course.

Boston still has six breweries, consisting of the Boston Beer Company and Suffolk plants of South Boston, Haffenreffer of Jamaica Plain, Commercial of Charlestown and Burkhardt and Star breweries of Roxbury.

John A. McCarthy of the Boston Beer Company declared that the use of beer would go far to solve the whole problem of prohibition and temperance. The sale of beer, he said, would satisfy the ordinary person, who would be content to have it served with meals in hotels and cafes. Many beer drinkers, he argued, unable to obtain their favorite beverage since prohibition, had turned to whiskey and "home brew." He said a beer and light wine basis would bring "honest temperance" and no "hypocritical" half of 1 per cent. temperance.

MAY STOP HOME BREWING.

Howard Gray of Rueter & Co., said the Washington ruling might have far-reaching effects. He declared that home brewing would certainly stop if a more palatable beverage could be obtained.

Arthur J. Davis, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, declared there was no disguising the fact that the ruling was a blow at prohibition. A return of beer and wines, he said, would double and treble the problems of enforcement, and this might prove to be the opening wedge.

It was asserted by dry leaders that the Palmer ruling would have no direct effect on the Massachusetts situation at present.

GIRL SAVES 4 AT JAMAICA PLAIN BLAZE

Clara Morse Cool Heroine When Lamp Overturns in Jamaica Plain Home

With a calm heroism far beyond her age, twelve-year old Clara Morse rescued her baby brother and three younger sisters from a fire in their home at No. 12 Starr lane, Jamaica Plain.

An overturned kerosene lamp started the fire which found Clara in charge of the children during the absence of her mother at church. The flames spread swiftly, and the terrorized children huddled together in a corner, crying and screening their faces from the smoke.

Clara, however, proved herself a marvel of courage and coolness. Rushing to the crib she rapidly bundled the baby from head to foot, held his heavy little body close to her bosom and plunged into the smoke and flame-filled room in quest of her three sisters.

Finding the trio rooted together with fear, Clara seized the arm of the oldest with her free hand, sharply ordered the others to form a line, holding hands, and then rushed them all out of the house.

Reaching the street, Clara shouted "fire" until a passerby sounded an alarm. Neighbors cared for the children until the return of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morse. Damage was estimated at $100.

A Welcome Announcement To the Lovers of Fine Pianos

LORD PIANO CO.

Will Reopen At Their Old Location

757 Boylston St.

On Monday, March 14

Almost half a century ago the Lord Piano Co. blazed a trail into this State. We opened a store in Lawrence for the sale of fine pianos. In 1914 we started another store, but in this city, which we later temporarily discontinued. Now we're coming back to our old location.

That this forward step—this expansion—means a better grade of service and greater convenience to our nearby clientele goes without saying. Greater emphasis should be placed on the bigger economies affected through a larger buying power, which naturally means more substantial savings to you, and the more comprehensive displays of pianos and player pianos.

We have surrounded ourselves with the masterpieces of the genius and craft of those manufacturers whose pioneering knowledge has been tempered and ripened by the passing years of experiance, and whose traditions of quality shall find counterpart in our traditions of dependable service and uniform courtesy so closely woven into the fabric of our enduring business life.

To this Opening we tender you a cordial invitation to spend a few minutes inspecting our new showrooms.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, aching, sore muscles, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $3.00

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

"DANDERINE"

Girls! Save Your Hair! Make It Abundant!

Immediately after a "Danderine" massage, your hair takes on new life, lustre and wonderful beauty, appearing twice as heavy and plentiful, because each hair seems to fluff and thicken. Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, plain or scraggly. You, too, want lots of long, strong, beautiful hair.

A 35-cent bottle of delightful "Danderine" freshens your scalp, checks dandruff and falling hair. This stimulating "Beauty-tonic" gives to thin, dull, fading hair that youthful brightness and abundant thickness.—All druggists!

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid, which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder disease.—Advertisement.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look years younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

Kennedy Employes Hold Annual Banquet

A few of those who attended the tenth annual jollification "get-together" of the Kennedy Associates at the Hotel Lenox as glimpsed by Artist Harmony.

If you heard the strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" last night, it was from the tenth annual banquet given by the Kennedy Associates at the Hotel Lenox. From the moment when the first Kennedy employe shook hands in the reception room until the last good nights were said, all was jovial goodfellowship at this wholly successful get-together.

F. J. KENNEDY CHEERED.

The modest figure of F. J. Kennedy occupied the place of honor, of course, and his few but sincere words brought a rousing cheer from everyone present. Frank J. Skelly, president of the association, also spoke.

Much of the credit for the success of the banquet is divided between P. J. McMahon, the toastmaster, and "Mert" Guiney, the song-leader. "Jimmy" sure did raise the laughs and "Mert" proved to be the greatest little song-leader in any of the eight cities that boast Kennedy stores.

Among others who "dropped in" was Major Thomas Walsh, brother of Senator David I. Walsh, and what he said about Americanism was worth listening to.

One of the features on the program was the singing of John E. Riley, who rendered some of the songs that twine around your heart when you hear them sung as he sang them.

SINGERS ENTERTAIN.

The program also included William Coughlin, another glorious singer; the inimitable Joe Rubin, and as a special feature the rousing family of Law Walter's "Frolics and Frills."

Besides the presidents of the company, there were present John O'Malley, manager; Walter Weld, advertising manager; John A. Lyons, William J. Kennedy, assistant manager, and "Tom" Murray, the chairman of the banquet committee.

HARVARD LAW SCHOOL OPPOSES FEE INCREASE

The Harvard Law School is opposed to an increase in its tuition fees. Dean Roscoe Pound says a charge of $250 as put in force in the other university departments would keep a large number of students from the school, and seriously impair its strength nationally. The law school is the only department at Harvard run at a profit and its faculty has notified the endowment fund that there will be no request for a share of that collection during the next three years. The law school, however, wishes in the future enough of the fund to complete Langdell Hall.

WOMAN DRAWN FOR N. H. GRAND JURY

Concord, N. H., March 11.—Mrs. Louise H. Folsom of Concord Plains is the first woman in the State to be drawn for jury duty. She is to serve on the grand jury for the April term of the Superior Court. She announced that she was ready to perform the service that goes with the enfranchisement of women.

HARVARD TO INCREASE DORMITORY RENTALS

The committee of professors and deans at Harvard have recommended that the rents for university dormitories be increased next year. The buildings are not paying as they should be, argue the investigators and they recommend an increase to enlarge the net income of the system to at least $50,000 next year, the same as it was before the war.

EUGENE KEELER SUICIDE IS MYSTERY

Relatives and Friends Cannot Understand Act of Rich Attleboro Man

Attleboro, March 11.—Eugene Keeler, son of Charles P. Keeler, wealthy manufacturing jeweler of the firm of McHue and Keeler, who died in New York last night as the result of wounds self inflicted on February 28, left home today to bring his father's body here for burial.

Funeral arrangements will be made after the body reaches here, but the services probably will be held from the family residence, No. 60 West street.

Relatives and friends of Mr. Keeler are unable to understand his death. At the time he shot himself his son went to New York and remained with his father until Monday, when he returned to take charge of the business.

At that time the son reported his father recovering rapidly, and regaining his mental poise.

The report on the attempt at suicide as given by the New York authorities was that Keeler had shot himself while "suffering from a fit of temporary insanity, due to worries over fancied business troubles."

His business associates here say there could have been no real business troubles to disturb him, as the firm here was doing remarkably well, as was the branch house in Sherbrooke, Canada.

Keeler was sixty-one years old, a prominent Mason, and well-known as a sportsman and trap shooter, having won several trophies at the meets of the B. A. A. Besides his son, he leaves a brother, Eugene; a widow and two daughters.

Parker Will Allowed

The will of Frank P. Parker, Jr., of Lexington, who died December 19, 1920, has been allowed. Edmah H. Parker of Cambridge, a sister, has been appointed as executrix and has given a bond of $75,000. The estate is valued at $50,000.

John E. Crehan of Salem Caught After Chase Through Streets of Beverly

John E. Crehan, aged twenty-nine, of No. 4 Beacon street, Salem, was arrested in Beverly after a chase, in which Patrolman Joseph C. Murney of the Beverly police fired several shots. Crehan is charged with attacking a Beverly girl on February 20 and is also alleged to have insulted several other young women on different occasions.

The girl, who Crehan is alleged to have attacked, recognized him in front of the Wars Theatre, Beverly. She went to police headquarters and returned with Patrolman Murney to the theatre, Crehan fleeing as they approached him.

HAPGOOD SEES DEBS FREED IN MONTH BY HARDING

By NORMAN HAPGOOD,
Editorial Correspondent of Boston American.

Washington, March 11.—The Socialists are planning to hold demonstrations here in favor of the release from prison of Eugene Debs and other political prisoners. I can give them a piece of sound advice. Don't do it. President Harding's attitude toward the Debs case is so right that he deserves a reasonable time in which to carry it out in action. He thinks it ought to come up to him through the attorney-general's office, and in that he is undoubtedly correct.

Norman Hapgood

Mr. Daugherty knows, however, that President Harding wants the case hurried, and also that one of the principles most firmly fixed in the President's mind is that we ought to get rid of old antipathies and the bitterness left over from the war just as fast as we possibly can.

Mr. Harding spoke severely of Debs at the time of his conviction, and I do not pretend that he has any sympathy whatever with socialism. Opposition to anything that can be called confiscation is of the very essence of his thought. He believes thoroughly in private property as the necessary and right impulse toward activity. Nevertheless it must not be forgotten that he was the first public man in a position to lose anything by such a step who came out in condemnation of the action of the New York Legislature in throwing out because of their Socialist doctrines members legally elected. It is my prophecy that if the friends of Eugene Debs and other political prisoners will behave in a considerate and courteous manner, Debs and probably the other men now in jail will be at liberty before the present month has run its course. Nobody can accuse me of being lukewarm in the Debs case, as I have given more work to it in the last half year than to any other one subject. It is because I feel so strongly the advantages that will result if Mr. Harding acts according to his present feelings that I should deplore inconsiderate action which might irritate him or might make it more difficult for him to follow his instinct.

The plan is to picket the White House, carrying banners, and using other devices for attracting constant attention, and for causing annoyance to Mr. Harding and his family. If the President has not acted in a couple of months from now, such a course will be perfectly fair and reasonable. Sprung on him in the first week of the administration, when he means to do the right thing in this case, as fast as he properly can, such a course would show the worst judgment.

Not that it is a light thing to be kept in jail when there is no decent reason for your being there. Sometimes I wish all judges, all governors, all presidents and a large part of the rich might spend a week or so in jail, just to see what it is like. Every day that Eugene Debs is in prison is a dark blot on our history. But President Harding is not to blame and he has the right to go through an orderly procedure. When I ask the Socialists to wait two months, I do not actually believe it will take a month.

To that type of mind the surrounding circumstances, when the Debs case and the other similar cases reach him for decision, are likely to have a good deal to do with the outcome. I speak with confidence about what his attitude is at the present time, but I do not pretend to predict what the results would be if the case should come up to him at a time when a lot of people were picketing the White House and giving the idea of compulsion to anything that might be done.

IS SUED

MRS. NELLIE FISHER WHITELEY

DENIES CAUSING DAUGHTER TO QUIT HUSBAND

Gave Son-in-Law, Suing for $50,000, Clothes He Wears, Says Mrs. Whiteley

"Why I gave that man the clothes he has on his back," declared Mrs. Nellie Fisher Whiteley, No. 819 Audubon road, today when told that her son-in-law, Clarence D. Glazier, Cambridge photographer, had named her as one of the defendants in his $50,000 suit for alleged alienation of Mrs. Glazier's affections.

Pointing to a portrait of her father, the late John Fisher of Wareham, widely known Cape resident, which hung on the wall of her apartment, she added:

PAID RENT FOR STUDIO.

"Given the pants and overcoat Clarence Glazier wears belonged to my dear dead father. I paid the rent for his studio until he could get established."

The mother-in-law declared Glazier would find it difficult to get "fifty thousand cents" by suing her.

She denied that she had promoted the estrangement of her daughter and son-in-law in any way. On the contrary, she said, she had insisted on the former returning to Glazier after they had separated last November.

"I let my daughter stay here awhile when she came to me last Fall," said Mrs. Whiteley. "What mother wouldn't."

In spite of the court action, the mother-in-law asserted she would give Glazier financial assistance now should he need it.

CHEF NAMED IN SUIT.

Mrs. Glazier is employed as cashier in the Oak Grove Cafe in Central square. George Marcoguanklis, chef of the restaurant, is named as a principal conspirator by the husband. Since leaving her mother, Mrs. Glazier has lived at other places furnished by Marcoguanklis, the husband alleges. Marcos Miliotes and George Matsiliotes, proprietors of the Oak Grove Cafe, also are named in the suit.

"I had to leave him last November," Mrs. Glazier said, while transcribing her duties of cashier at the restaurant.

CHARGES CRUELTY.

"While we were living at the corner of Harvard and Dana street, here in Cambridge, he was extremely cruel to me and on one occasion tried to choke me.

"I don't think his suit will ever come to trial, but if it does he will find he hasn't a leg to stand on. I have plenty of witnesses who will testify to my good conduct.

"He wouldn't support me and I had to go to work. For two weeks after I left him I paid the rent on the room he was occupying."

The Glazier's were married August 24, 1908, at Brockton. They resided in Lynn for a time, later moving to Cambridge, where the husband has a studio in Central square.

SHOE CONCERN TO CUT PAY 20 PER CENT.

Physical Training Bill Favorably Reported

The committee on education at an executive session reached an agreement to report favorably on the bill providing for physical training in the public schools. No amendments have been added to the measure as originally introduced.

The committee also decided to recommend a bill providing for the employment of school nurses in public schools. Under the terms of the physical training bill all cities and towns are required to instal courses of physical training. At present they may do so at their own discretion.

ILL VETS FIND CHAMPION IN HARDING

First Message to Congress Will Deal at Length With Care for Disabled

Washington, March 11.—President Harding will devote a considerable portion of his first message to Congress to outlining a practical plan for the care of disabled American veterans of the World War. This became known following a conference between the President and P. W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion.

President Harding will recommend that all the governmental agencies administering soldier relief be consolidated under one head. The plan has the full endorsement of the Legion, Colonel Galbraith declared.

The lamentable collapse of the present system of dealing with disabled American soldiers, it is known, has been a point of earnest deliberation with President Harding for some time.

Colonel Galbraith went to the White House armed with letters citing specific instances of the suffering and sorrow caused by the failure of the Wilson administration to handle the problem efficiently. The Legion commander detailed these incidents to the President, and told him that they were only a few of thousands of similar cases. He described the system of dealing with war veterans as a "national disgrace."

Following the conference, Colonel Galbraith expressed the utmost confidence in President Harding's grasp of the situation and his plan for correcting it.

CHURCH PUTS ON ITS OWN MOVIES

Pastor Stages Shows Because He Finds Town Productions Objectionable

Because Weymouth's movie houses are showing pictures that are objectionable to him, the Rev. Fr. John B. Holland of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Weymouth Landing, has established his own "movie" house. The performances are held within the church and the children from all sections of the town attend them.

"The movie houses in Weymouth were showing objectionable pictures," declared Father Holland. "We found that the children of the parish were attending them, and decided to remedy the situation by establishing our own movie house. Under our own personal care, with only the highest quality pictures, the morals of the children cannot be impaired."

Several months ago petitions were circulated, requesting that the "movie balls" be barred from the town. Charges that the hall was dimmed to such an extent that the dancers could not be distinguished were freely made.

At these performances the lights are extinguished, with the exception of four lights in the corners of the hall, and the dancers glide over the floor to the tune of a jazz orchestra, while those in the balcony watch the latest Wild West, comedy or love scene which is being flashed on the screen.

Miss Dorothy Winsor, class of 1923, of Lowell road, Concord, is coaching the play "Le Monde ou l'on s'ennuie," which is to be given by the French Club of Radcliffe College in April. Miss Katherine Dodge, also of Concord, and a member of the 1922 class, is taking part in the play.

MILFORD COAL DEALER IS HELD UP IN OFFICE

Gunman Rifles Safe of $75 in First Robbery of Kind in Town for 40 Years

Milford, March 11.—James H. Lester, proprietor of the Milford Coal Company, was held up at the point of a revolver in his Main street office here while the robber rifled an open safe of $75. It was the first robbery of its kind in this town for forty years.

The hold-up man appeared from behind a door when Lester returned to his office from supper. Lester was about to turn out his pockets to prove he had no money on his person when the robber spied the open safe. He overlooked $50 in a drawer and made his exit by a rear window. Lester believes he had an accomplice outside. An automobile search by the local police was in vain.

BOY HIT BY AUTO IS ON DANGER LIST

Lewis Cassidy, four years old, of No. 198 Smith street, was struck by an automobile on Huntington avenue, near Smith street, and removed to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, where he was found to have received a fractured skull. His name was immediately placed on the danger list. The car was driven by John J. Tuohy, of No. 23 Hillside street, Roxbury.

$1,110 IN BONDS STOLEN FROM LAWRENCE MAN

Lawrence, March 11.—Italian bonds valued at $1,110 were stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Bertola of No. 41 Jackson street. The couple had purchased 5,000 lire Italian bonds, six months ago, at the office of a Lawrence Italian banker. Another 5,000 lire were purchased two months ago and the entire bulk was secreted in an old couch in the sitting room of their home.

Will it be proud Mrs. Collingham, the banker's wife or Bob Collingham, her son, in love with Jennie? You'll have to read "The Empty Sack," Basil King's new novel beginning in March Cosmopolitan, to find out which of these normal, average Americans commits a murder that eventually leads to the Room with the Little Green Door.

Where a little love buys a square meal

The Cafe Germania in Vienna, the City of Death—lively groups of boisterous men and starving women—outside, wretched figures hurrying through dark streets in a cold drizzle of rain. "That's what they've come for," Lieutenant Bramber said to Sir Philip Gibbs as they sipped their Niersteiner, "That's why they're flirting with foreign officers. A little love in return for a square meal!" Then, there was one girl who was "different." She was "The Madonna of the Hungry Child." Read Sir Philip Gibbs' dramatic narrative in March Cosmopolitan. The MASCO MOP is for all kinds of cleaning!

FOR washing up kitchen floors, bath rooms, laundries, porches, etc., no mop ever made does the work so easily and quickly as the MASCO.

Its strings are made of a new kind of extra-absorbent cotton yarn that is fairly thirsty for water. Once over with a MASCO equals twice over with any other mop. It wrings out as easily as it soaks up.

As a dry mop for the simple dusting of floors you will find the soft threads of the MASCO will pick up fluff and dust more readily than any other kind of duster you ever used.

For oiling and cleaning hard wood floors soak a MASCO in any good floor oil, let it dry, and you have a perfect oil mop. One handle will do for all. Here are three mops at the price of one prepared oil mop.

The MASCO is easy to keep sweet and sanitary. Boil it in a pail of soapy water, wring out and dry in the sun. Do this and your MASCO will last.

Housewives will find the eight ounce MASCO just right for size. It is light, with short strings. It isn't bulky or clumsy. It finds the corners. It fits the hands.

Janitors who have large halls and floors to clean can cut their work in half. There are big MASCO Mops for big jobs and every MASCO drinks water like a fish. Each MASCO Mop comes in a separate wrapper, trade marked for your protection. Easy for you to identify.

Wherever mops are sold you will find the MASCO. Accept no other! If your dealer doesn't have it, he can get it quickly from the distributors named below.

MASCO PRODUCTS

To Roll Eggs Again at White House Easter

Washington, March 11.—The old custom of Easter egg rolling on the White House grounds will be observed this year for the first time since 1916.

The President and Mrs. Harding are looking forward to the revival of the custom with much interest, it was revealed at the executive offices today, and will probably mingle with the children of the city on that occasion. They have already arranged for music by the Marine Band.

CROWELL HAS TALK WITH SECRETARY WEEKS

Washington, March 11.—Former Assistant Secretary of War Benedict Crowell, of Cleveland, who supported the Harding-Coolidge ticket in the campaign, had a conference with Secretary of War Weeks, giving rise to reports that he was a candidate for his old job. Crowell said he did not desire the post and was sailing on Saturday for London on personal business.

APPROPRIATION BILLS COMING UP FIRST

Washington, March 11.—The army and navy appropriation bills and the budget bill will be the first measures taken up by the House in the special session of Congress, Speaker Gillett stated, following a conference with President Harding. If an emergency tariff bill is passed early in the session it is probable that the House will take a recess until the permanent tariff bill is ready for action, Speaker Gillett said.

DECRIES IRREVERENCE OF AMERICAN PEOPLE

Lawrence, March 11.—Addressing the manufacturers and business men of Lawrence, Charles W. Tobey, president of the Manchester, N. H., Chamber of Commerce, declared that the greatest weakness in the country today is a lack of sense of responsibility. He cited that the children have lost the art of play and have to be entertained; "lost in the craze of movies and cheap vaudeville."

That there is less respect for old age, for sacred things and for womanhood and that we are living in an atmosphere of jazz music, frivolity and levity was the opinion of the speaker.

Stocks Weak; Money 7%; Exchange Steady

RAILS RECEDE AND STEELS LOWER

Many Issues Sell at New Lows for 1921; Whole List on a Lower Level

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, prices being but little above the morning lowest. Trading was active on the decline, first hour transactions approximating 360,000 shares. During the second hour pressure on rails relaxed and a number sold above opening prices, while a few showed gains. Steels and oils were down. Atlantic Gulf and Agricultural Chemical were strong, each advancing more than a point.

Losses ranged from fractions to more than four points, Crucible receding the most. More than thirty stocks sold at new 1921 lows during the morning. Selling was about evenly divided between liquidation and transactions for the short account.

Call money opened at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange was steady, demand sterling opening at $3.90¼.

Weak at the start the market grew weaker. Rails continued to lead the decline, while coppers also eased off. New lows for the year were established in each of these groups as well as among industrials. In fact, more than twenty issues were at bottom figures for 1921 within a few minutes. Many orders to sell accumulated over night and when trading began stocks were in greater supply than at any previous opening this month. Some of the selling was by outsiders who are being scared into unloading holdings. The investment demand which has been a sustaining influence for some time began to dwindle a few weeks ago and is now petering out. The public is getting to be as bearish as speculators at Palm Beach, although it is but a very small factor in the stock market at present.

STEELS WERE HEAVY.

Steels had a heavy tone. U. S. Steel opened above 80, but was soon below it and at a new low for this year. The recessional was orderly and most of the selling was in small lots. The usual pause in the first hour movement was brief and on the secondary phase a still lower level was reached. Threats of railroad strikes as a response to wage reductions were expected. As traffic is of less volume than for years, roads are in better position to handle vital freight in case of labor trouble than when switchmen left their posts. Rail congestion is a thing of the past and it is claimed by railroad managements that there are still thousands of men on their payrolls whose services are not an operating necessity. But in case of a transportation tieup the public will suffer as usual. The railroad situation is getting a great deal of Wall Street attention at present and may soon be the biggest problem for Washington. It has a bearing upon the well-being of everyone. There is $20,000,000,000 invested in American railroads and if they become bankrupt consequences will be frightful.

Wall Street Briefs

Directors of the General Motors Co. will meet for dividend action on March 24.

The Manitoba government has sold $600,000 6 per cent. five-year bonds to the National City Co. of New York at 100.566.

According to Minister of Railways Reid, railroad officials estimate that this year's losses by the roads comprising the Canadian National Railways will aggregate $50,000,000.

Sears Roebuck officials say that if this month's business continues at the first week ratio March will compare favorably with the corresponding 1920 month.

At the end of January the floating debt of the United States totaled $2,351,160,000, a reduction of $3,748,316,000 from the peak reached April 30, 1919.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway handled 33,042 cars in the first week of March, compared with 35,980 for the corresponding period last year, a decrease of 2,938.

February production of casing-head gasoline by the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation totaled 1,494,591 gallons, against 884,067 in February, 1920.

Corporation Reports

F. W. Woolworth Co. sales for February amounted to $9,138,261, against $8,172,380 in February, 1920. For the first two months of this year sales aggregated $17,475,989 against $16,648,760.

For nine months ended with September last the William Cramp & Sons Ship & Engine Building Co. reports gross earnings $25,891,742; expenses, $28,192,516; net earnings, $2,699,226 and net profits $1,662,161.

The Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania reports for 1920 operating revenues, $30,329,208; net revenue, $4,780,276; operating income $3,791,100; surplus, $2,939,637.

Van Raalte Co., Inc., reports for 1920 gross profit on sales of $2,631,037, against $3,954,316 in the previous year and net profit after taxes of $931,598, compared with $1,758,094.

The Standard Oil Company of California reports for 1920 net profit, after depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes of $41,635,254, against $31,062,768 in 1919.

Town, City and County Loans

Ware, Mass., will receive bids until noon, March 14, for a temporary loan of $40,000, dated March 21 and maturing November 19, 1921.

Medford, Mass., will receive bids until 9 a. m., Monday, March 14, for the purchase, at discount, of a temporary loan of $100,000, of which $50,000 matures November 23, and $50,000 December 19, 1921.

Washington County, Vermont, will receive bids until 10 o'clock, March 29, at the courthouse, Montpelier, Vt., for the purchase of $70,000 County of Washington 5 per cent serial bonds.

Brockton, Mass., will receive proposals until noon, March 15, for a temporary loan of $200,000, dated March 17 and maturing November 18, 1921.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, March 11.—A little improvement was noted in the cotton market at the opening, due to firmer cables, buying by Wall street and covering by the room. First prices were 2 to 7 points higher. Liverpool and the South sold. According to private message Manchester advices continued poor, but there was some week-end covering by Liverpool. Commission houses reported outside interest to be small and lack of this support doubtless accounted for a slight reaction during the first fifteen minutes, prices receding to last night's closing levels. Opening prices were: March offered 11.88, May 11.85, July 12.30, October 12.89, December 13.10 to 13.15, January 13.18.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, March 11.—Wheat opened 1c to 1¼c lower. Corn opened ⅝c to ¾c off, and oats was down ⅛c to ¼c. Provisions opened dull and about 10c lower. Opening prices were: Wheat—March, 1.66¾ to 1.65; May, 1.56¾ to 1.56¼. Corn—May, 70 to 69⅞; July, 72¼ to 72. Oats—May, 44¼ to 44; July, 45⅛ to 45¼. Lard—July, 12.47.

HEAVY TONE TO DULL LOCAL TRADING

Prices Decline From Opening of Boston Exchange; Brisk Business on the Curb

While prices receded on the Boston exchange at the opening and the tone remained heavy during the forenoon, the local market was in no sense as weak as the one in New York. New Haven sold at a new low for the year and was the only rail to figure in early transactions. A few copper issues sustained fractional losses, and packing issues were quiet and lower. Carson Hill, American Telephone and National Leather were as active as any stocks, but in neither case was there much business. Waltham Watch and Swift & Co. sold at new year lows. The market as a whole was as uninteresting as it was dull.

Stocks to recede a point or more during the morning included United Fruit, United Drug, American Sugar preferred and General Electric. Smaller losses were recorded for Calumet & Arizona, Copper Range, East Butte, Davis Daly, Massachusetts Gas, New Haven, United Shoe, American Woolen common, Carson Hill, Libby, Swift & Co., Swift International, Waldorf and Waltham Watch.

Among issues to make small gains were American Telephone, New England Telephone and Gray & Davis.

CURB WAS ACTIVE.

The Curb was active and unlike other markets showed strength. At the opening most issues were unchanged. Among those to make early gains were Eureka, Imperial and Verde Mines. Ray Hercules began with a decline. Leaders in activity were Boston & Montana and Eureka.

At the end of the hour Boston & Montana was up 3 cents at 67 cents, Seven Metals 1 cent at 9 cents, Daddy 1 cent at 11 cents, Ophir 3-16 at 1¼ and Eureka 7-16 at 1 5-8. Declines included Crystal 4 cents at 30 cents and Ruby 2 cents at 30 cents.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Investors' Guaranty Corporation of New England has been granted a Massachusetts charter. It is capitalized at $200,000.

The Haverhill Gas Light Co. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.12½ per share, payable April 1 to stock of record March 15, 1921.

The Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. reports for last year net profit after Federal tax of $2,876,065, an increase of $182,791 over 1919. Surplus applicable to common dividends was $1,089,407, against $859,676 in 1919. This is equal to $6.98 a share on common, against $5.73.

New England receipts of anthracite coal in 1920 amounted to 11,255,204 tons, against 10,678,153 tons in 1919, and 13,620,640 tons in 1918.

On April 1 G. Peabody Gardner, Jr., will enter the firm of Jackson & Curtis.

A local financial publication says that the cancellation of the government wool auction to have been held resulted in a scramble by the carpet makers and it is understood about 1,000,000 pounds changed hands at price advances in some cases as high as 5 per cent.

Steel Trade Still Dull

The steel trade industry is as dull this month as it was last, and the Iron Age doubts if independent mills are operating at 20 per cent. of capacity. That authority says that buyers are divided into two camps. One is looking for wage and price revisions by the United States Steel Corporation as a means of establishing confidence in the market stability, and the other is urging a maintenance of the corporation stand until stocks are near a thorough liquidation and price guarantees on manufactured goods are no longer involved. American Iron and Steel Institute records indicate February production of steel ingots of 2,066,204 tons, or a daily average of 86,638 tons, against 103,533 tons per day for January.

Rail Fuel Oil Consumption

Railroad operating statistics compiled by the American Petroleum Institute from Interstate Commerce Commission reports show that 3,411,928 barrels of fuel oil were consumed by locomotives in road transportation service only during November, 1920, as against 3,095,851 consumed in the corresponding 1919 month. In October, 1920, 3,515,520 barrels were consumed, and in October, 1919, 2,991,641. Consumption of fuel oil during the eleven months ending with November last compares as follows: 1920, 35,295,072 barrels; 1919, 28,892,952 barrels.

Dividend Declarations

Cluett, Peabody & Co. declared quarterly $1.75 preferred dividend, payable April 1 to stock of record March 21.

Phelps Dodge declared quarterly dividend of $1 a share, payable April 1 to stock of record March 18. This is a reduction from $2.50 quarterly.

Chandler Motor Car Co. declared quarterly dividend of $2.50, payable April 1 to stock of record March 21.

Victor Talking Machine Co. declared dividends of $1.75 on preferred and $10 a share on common, payable April 15 to stock of record March 31. Three months ago $15 was paid on common.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. declared 2 per cent. common dividend, payable April 1 to stock of record March 15.

Green Bay & Western Railroad Co. declared dividend of 5 per cent. on capital stock and class A debentures and dividend of ½ of 1 per cent. on class B debentures, all payable March 21 to holders of record March 1.

Wilson & Co. declared regular dividend of 1¾ per cent. on preferred, payable April 1 to holders of record March 21.

U. S. Bobbin & Shuttle Co. declared dividend of $1.75 on preferred, and $1.50 on common, both payable March 31 to holders of record March 8.

American Agricultural Chemical Co. declared dividend of 2 per cent. on common, payable in stock, and regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. on preferred, both payable April 15 to stock of record March 21. Last quarterly dividend was also in stock. Previously 2 per cent. cash dividend was paid.

Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada declared an interim dividend of 1½ per cent. on ordinary stock, payable March 30, and semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. on preferred, payable March 31.

The Hydraulic Steel Co. declared quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred, payable April 1. Common dividend was passed.

Royal Baking Powder Co. declared quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. on preferred, payable March 31 to holders of record March 15. Action on the common dividend was deferred until next meeting.

Rail Earnings

For January the Alabama Great Southern reports decrease of $46,955 in operating revenue and a deficit of $35,260.

Decreases for January reported by Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis were $599,408 in operating revenue and $422,122 in operating income, the deficit amounting to $71,922.

Minneapolis & St. Louis operating revenue decreased $24,856 in January and its deficit was $10,250.

For January the Maine Central reports an increase of $281,624 in operating revenue and a deficit of $1,065,027.

January operating revenue of the Philadelphia Reading increased $941,799, but operating income decreased $9,727.

Pere Marquette's operating revenue decreased $712,250 in January and it was operated at a deficit of $292,866 for the month.

Copper at 12 Cents

The sale of copper at 12 cents a pound took the metal to the lowest level in seven years. In February, 1914, there were transactions at 11.73 cents a pound. Producers are understood to be contemplating reducing wages again and to the extent of a dollar a day. From $4 to $5 a day is now being paid. Many copper companies are said to be selling Liberty Bonds to get cash to carry unsold metal.

Am. Sugar Dividend Outlook

At the annual meeting of the American Sugar Refining Co., a stockholder remarked to President Babst: "We are going to do our best to maintain the record of twenty-nine years." He said also the company hopes to make some money this year and that meltings to date are about 12 per cent. ahead of the corresponding date last year.

Porphyry Copper Production

Production by six large porphyry copper companies for the first ten months of this year, they being Chino, Inspiration, Nevada, New Cornelia, Ray and Utah, decreased 14,457,239 pounds as compared with the total for the corresponding 1920 period.

Postal Savings Increase.

During February deposits in the United States postal savings department increased about $10,000,000, aggregating $163,850,000 on March 1. In Boston they totaled $4,490,574.

Low Price of Lead

Lead is not far above its lowest price in fifteen years, being offered by large selling interests at 4 cents a pound. The average price in 1914 was 3.85 cents. It sold at 8.75 in 1917.

DRIVE FOR IRISH AID OPENS IN PROVIDENCE

Mayor Gainer, Bishop Hickey and Rabbi Gup Speakers at Mass Meeting

Providence, March 11.—Pleas for women and children of Ireland were made by prominent speakers at a mass meeting in the Elks Auditorium last evening. The meeting was held in connection with the opening of the drive for funds by the American Committee for Relief of Ireland. The huge hall was taxed to its capacity.

The meeting was presided over by Major Joseph H. Gainer, and the enthusiastic audience greeted each of the speakers, Right Reverend William A. Hickey, Coadjutor Bishop of the Providence diocese; Rabbi Samuel Gup of Temple Beth-El; Theodore Francis Green and Richard B. Comstock, president of the Providence Bar Association, with rounds of applause.

In opening the meeting Mayor Gainer said: "The people of Providence have ever been noted for their generosity. No demand has ever been made upon them that was not met with quick response. All of the drives held during the war were warmly supported. We are asking now to help the women and children of Ireland who are in dire need. The American Committee for Relief of Ireland consists of foremost American citizens. It is their purpose to supply relief without political or religious distinction.

"Branches have been formed in every State in the Union and the Rhode Island delegation is headed by Michael F. Dooley, banker, who is being aided by representatives in every race and creed.

"No one can doubt the sincerity of what they say concerning where the money collected will go.

"Ireland's is the only civilized white race in the world who have not in the past, or are not at present, receiving aid from America. The campaign for them is going over in Providence and is going over big."

BISHOP HICKEY'S PLEA.

Bishop Hickey reviewed what people of Ireland had done for America and the rest of the world in the past and urged the loyal support of every person with Irish blood in his veins, as well as every American. "Ireland cries out to the rest of the world for a helping hand," he said, "to pull her out of the slough of despond and give her some vestige of prosperity.

"I never thought it would fall to my lot to have to ask for aid for starving Irish people, people who are filled with dread at the thought of a lingering death by starvation. To get an idea of such a death recall the newspaper accounts of the sufferings of Terence MacSwiney, the martyr.

"We are turning our attention to a devastated country lying in ruins because of a blind, unreasoning power turned loose in war.

"Ireland has a right to appeal to the world for aid. She saved the religion of Europe; she has stood for charity and justice. More than 160,000 men are out of work in Ireland. We are not going to allow a famine there. If the Red Cross cannot do its part, then the White Cross will. If the White Cross cannot do its part, then the Celtic Cross will.

"The committee on investigation has proven the fact, and to the credit of the British it must be said that the committee was allowed to make its investigation and to use the crown's statistics.

"You of Irish blood are going to do your share. You owe it to Ireland—Ireland to whom you owe all that has made you famous as citizens, statesmen and fighters. Those who have not Irish blood will do their part because they are Americans and because American blood will prompt them to do what they never failed to do for a suffering people.

"I love to think of what Ireland has done for America, and I love to think of what American has done for Ireland, and again the true America will come to the front."

TRIBUTE BY RABBI GUP.

Rabbi Gup, in opening his address, recalled an incident that occurred during the Jewish Welfare drive when two Irishmen, "McCarthy" and "O'Brien," announced their subscriptions for $25 each. "During the drive for the relief of Ireland," he said, "such good Irishmen as Abraham Levey and Solomon Jacobs will announce their subscriptions."

"My people know what it is to suffer," he continued. "They have been oppressed and outraged for years and they know now not what the morrow may bring. Not alone as a Jew do my feelings go out in sympathy with the Irish, but as an American citizen. I love and admire the Irish. I have been raised among them and I know them as a brilliant race.

"When now they are undergoing trial and know not where to turn for help I sympathize and proclaim for them a world of cheer in this drive which is to be launched. A word of cheer that the American people are going to aid them.

"The Irish have always played a heroic part in the affairs of this country and now that they are crying for help for their women and children we shall answer them. We have plenty and are living in peace and security. Can we turn our backs upon them and allow them to die?

"The word charity is not in the Hebrew language. The word for "charity" means "justice." It is justice for us to keep alive those created by one father who ruleth all the earth."

Mr. Green, who led Rhode Island in the thrift stamp campaign, said: "Persons who came to the relief of the Belgians when their country was occupied by Germans will find a way to come to the relief of the women and children in Ireland."

"I want to be dead when I cannot raise my voice for any suffering people, regardless of race or nationality," declared Mr. Comstock. "Women and children of Ireland are not going to be allowed to die. We want money for them and we are going to get it."

After Breakfast

After breakfast, next Sunday, New England folks are going to play a wonderful GAME. They're going to test their OWN intelligence by answering thirty-two fascinating questions which will appear in Sunday's Advertiser. COME ON IN. THE GAME'S FINE!

MELLON SEES NORMAL TIMES BY FALL

Conditions Abroad, However, Must Become Better, Says Secretary

Washington, March 11.—Business conditions in the United States will return to normal by the latter part of Summer or early Fall, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon predicted in an interview today.

"The business situation today," said Mr. Mellon, "is complicated by the fact that financial distress and maladjustment are world-wide phenomena. I do not expect that the United States can return to a normally prosperous condition until conditions become better abroad. This I hope will be before many months."

Secretary Mellon announced that on Monday he would confer with Senator Penrose, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Representative Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee, regarding tax and tariff legislation, with a view to exploiting these matters. He could not tell which subject would be taken up first.

Secretary Mellon said that no steps had been taken yet regarding European debts to the United States, and indicated that the subject would go over for the present in favor of more pressing domestic legislation.

Boston-Wyoming

Wyoming oil producers will soon be receiving millions of dollars, according to Denver advices. Boston-Wyoming, it is stated, will be paid $1,500,000 now impounded by the Government. This sum represents proceeds from sale of oil from restricted Wyoming acreage. Under the provisions of the Oil Land Leasing Bill, as the Department of the Interior grant leases any sums impounded revert to the confirmed lessee, less the Government's royalty (usually one-eighth).

On March 3rd the Department of the Interior granted a lease to Boston-Wyoming on the southwest quarter of section 2-39-79 in the Salt Creek field of Wyoming. This is the first of the large impoundments of the proceeds of oil sales in the field to be released. Two others have been ordered granted as soon as papers can be prepared. There is only one well on the above quarter section, but it has been producing in excess of 700 barrels a day for more than five years.

It has generally been accepted that upon receipt from the Government of said impounded funds, Boston-Wyoming will go on a substantial dividend-paying basis. As an indication of the influence of the granting of these leases it is interesting to recall that three of the Wyoming oil companies paid initial dividends in January of this year and another resumed dividends after a lapse of several years.

It should also be remembered that Boston-Wyoming is now reported to own leases on nearly 3,000 selected acres in the Salt Creek field, one of the greatest high-grade oil pools in the country. In addition, the time is now at hand when the Wyoming oil stocks come in for greater market activity, due to the breaking of winter and intensified development.

Selling around One Dollar a share, with an active market at all times, Boston-Wyoming in our judgment offers an attractive business man's speculation which is worthy of investigation.

LOSES LEG IN ATTEMPT TO BOARD MOVING TRAIN

Haverhill, March 11.—John Bicorpo, a tailor, is in the Hale Hospital with his right leg amputated above the knee. He tried to board a moving express for Boston at the Boston & Maine depot, lost his grip when one of his legs was struck by a girder, and was thrown under the train. Guy Ham, switchman, and Edward Hoyt rendered first aid, tying a tourniquet on the mangled leg and preventing the victim from bleeding to death.

BAD CHECK PASSER GIVEN YEAR IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Manchester, N. H., March 11.—David Halmson of Portland, Me., wanted in several States, including Massachusetts, where it is alleged he operated in Boston, was given a year and a day in State prison by Judge Kivel in Superior Court after pleading guilty to passing a worthless check in Nashua in payment for clothing.

$5,000 TITLE TEST SKETCH ON PICTURE PAGE TODAY

Directly below the Test Picture will be found a List of Titles, and in this List of Titles the correct title of today's picture.

The same course—printing the Test Picture and also printing a List of Titles, containing the missing title—will be followed to the very end of the Test. This is a feature of the new Test which leads many of our friends to call it the "easiest ever." We advise everybody not to be too sure.

If any reader of the Boston American has not yet entered this interesting Test he (or she) will be provided with an opportunity the day day after tomorrow, when the Boston Sunday Advertiser will print all the Back Pictures.

Sunday after Sunday the Advertiser is "all sold out," everywhere in New England. The only way to be certain of a copy is to place an advance order with your newsdealer. Tell him to save the Boston American AND the Boston Sunday Advertiser for you regularly until the end of the Title Test.

The plan of this new Test calls for the printing of one Test picture daily for 60 consecutive days. Each picture will appear without a title. Our readers are requested to write the titles. A List of Titles is printed every day, and in this list is the correct title.

Titles are NOT to be sent in before the end of the Test. After they have been received and examined the following awards will be paid IN CASH to those who have submitted the largest percentages of correct titles to the 60 pictures:

ONE FIRST AWARD	$1,000
ONE SECOND AWARD	750
ONE THIRD AWARD	500
ONE FOURTH AWARD	400
ONE FIFTH AWARD	300
ONE SIXTH AWARD	200
ONE SEVENTH AWARD	150
ONE EIGHTH AWARD	100
ONE NINTH AWARD	50
100 AWARDS OF $10 EACH	1,000
110 AWARDS OF $5 EACH	550
TOTAL	$5,000

It will be extremely difficult to take part in the Title Test intelligently unless you read the Rules of the Test. They are printed on the Picture Page. You must send in sixty pictures. You must be careful to send your titles as first-class mail, prepaid in full. Read the rules carefully and so avoid wasting your time. Please remember that titles are not to be sent in until the close of the Test.

Every title in the Test is the title of a motion picture play which has been produced in the United States. The pictures are not intended to represent scenes. They DO represent titles.

Now, write the title of Test Picture No. 13, which is on the Picture Page, place an early order for the Boston Sunday Advertiser and be ready for the Back pictures.

Church Services Put Ahead for Sleepers

The churches in that locality have yielded to that "tired feeling" and have changed the Sunday morning preaching service from 10.30 to 11 a. m.

On account of the many late Saturday evening social functions this change has been thought desirable to meet the demands of prominent social leaders in the churches.

Trinity Church, Copley square, is the latest large church in that district to fall into line.

Aluminum Dessert Mold—Pint Size—Style E

5 Styles Free to users of Jiffy-Jell

We supply aluminum dessert molds—pint size—to users of Jiffy-Jell. They come in five styles—valued at 50c each. See our offer below.

Get real fruit

Our object is to urge you to use real-fruit desserts. Compare them with the old styles. Note what the children say.

Jiffy-Jell alone has the real fruit flavors sealed in glass. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. It comes to you rich, fresh and abundant. And it makes Jiffy-Jell a real fruit dainty, healthful and delicious.

Need fruit daily

All people need fruit acid daily. Children need it most. Fruit servings at this season are generally expensive.

Jiffy-Jell costs you a trifle. It costs no more than old-style desserts with the flavors in dry form.

It brings you real fruit and in plenty. You prepare in a jiffy.

These flavors have won millions. Let them win you.

Mold offers

Buy from your grocer six packages Jiffy-Jell in assorted flavors. Cut out the JJ trade-marks in the circle on front of packages. Send them with the coupon and we will mail the mold shown above. Will also mail a catalog of all other molds and gifts.

We also make Jiffy-Pie, a new dessert, in two flavors—Lemon and Chocolate. Ask your grocer

TOUCHING SCENE AS LEPERS QUIT PENIKESE

13 Victims, Swathed in Bandages, Start for Louisiana; Girl Bids Mother Farewell

New Bedford, March 11 — (closely) guarded by a half dozen physicians and employes of the United States Health Service, the thirteen lepers, eleven men and two women, who have been confined on the Island of Penikese by the State Board of Health were brought to this city and placed aboard a hospital train for transportation to the new Federal Leper Camp at Carville, La.

With their faces and hands swathed in bandages to cover from the morbid public gaze the ravages of the dread disease the patients were hurried by auto the short distance from the Pleasant st. & Reading coal wharf, whence they were landed from the tug Sherman, to the special car on a spur track.

With the exception of the two women all of the patients were able to walk and they covered the short distance with brisk step. Those who were not swathed in bandages pulled their caps over their eyes and with coat collars turned up appeared anxious to escape the curious eyes of the small crowd that gathered in the dimly lighted passageway beneath the coal pockets where the special car was held in readiness.

Numbered among the thirteen lepers on was an Italian woman, who was carried in blankets and carried from the boat to the car on an improvised stretcher. Although officials in charge of the affair were reluctant to outline the itinerary of the trip it was learned that the train will be met at Taunton, and at Providence it will the special train from Boston to New York.

The scene at the wharf was marked by a pathetic incident when one of the women whose name the officials declined to give out was met by her daughter. Although unable to touch her aged mother the young girl was given an opportunity to converse with her for possibly five minutes before the doors of the car closed behind the patients.

VERMONT'S FIRST WOMAN JURY IS DISMISSED

Newport, Vt., March 11.—Vermont's first jury of women, drawn for the Orleans County Court session here, was dismissed after taking their seats by Judge Stanley C. Wilson on the ground that the statutes of the State did not provide for their sex sitting and that he was averse to accepting a verdict from a jury the legality of which might be questioned.

PICKED UP AS VAGRANT, IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Providence, March 11.—A warrant was received here from New York charging Alberto Anastasio, now under arrest as a vagrant, with being one of the three men who shot and killed George Turillo at Devereux and Columbia streets on the night of May 16 1920.

THE UNDENIABLE CHARM OF BEAUTY

And how to attain it.

Youth of the complexion, a clear, soft, delicately tinted skin, is every day recognized as the undeniable charm of beauty.

To be attractive, to be admired, is the secret desire of every woman, but few know how to attain this accomplishment.

First, it is very necessary to remove all blemishes—tan, sun, freckles, dark, sallow blotches, liver spots and pimples and to bring a pink glow of life to the skin tissues.

No other preparations on the market today will so quickly give results, make the skin clear, soft and youthful as Black and White Ointment and Black and White Soap.

No tedious hours of application are required, no long hours of appointments at beauty parlors—just a massage of the creamy ointment before retiring, then rinsed off next morning with Black and White Soap.

Literature and samples of Black and White Ointment, Soap, Face Powder and Talcum mailed upon receipt of 10c and this advertisement. Black and White Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn.

All Ready for Spring and for Easter

New Styles—New Fabrics—New Values

Our contracts with the mills for cloth were made at half of last year's prices; our entire organization has produced in expectation of a splendid season; our contented workers have given the best of their skill, uninterruptedly—that is why Morse-made spring suits and top coats, now ready, offer the greatest range of styles and fabrics in New England, at prices which give new conceptions of economical values in clothing.

Styles are distinctive but not freakish; vigorous, yet sensible. Double or single breasted; 2, 3 or 4-button sacks, and racy sport models, embodying every desirable style tendency. Sombre war styles are entirely forgotten; every model now shows new, live indications of the buoyant optimism of today.

Featured FABRICS include Herringbone, coarse or fine weave in a wide variety of brown and gray shades and combinations.

Topcoats are shown in herringbone, gray, brown and green heather knits; mixtures and plain colors; loose, form fitting, half belts and box models.

The Morse maker-to-wearer principle, shop to consumer in one building, one organization, loyally devoted to high ideals of clothing manufacture and selling, make our prices consistently lower than can be found elsewhere.

For this season the price range is

$25 to $60

Featuring Particularly Remarkable Values at $35-$40

Shoes — hats — gloves — neckwear — shirts — underwear — boys' clothing — all keep pace in freshness of style, variety of selections and new low price standards.

FRENCH FAMILY LOVE AFFAIRS TANGLED

"Polly," Former Mrs. Wagstaff, Adds to Mixup by Wedding Bank Clerk

The marriage of Mrs. Pauline French Wagstaff in New York to Donald Oliver MacRae, added another tangle to the matrimonial mixup in which the French family has become involved.

Mrs. MacRae, who is thirty-four, and a daughter of Mr and Mrs Amos Tuck French, divorced Samuel J. Wagstaff, the New York lawyer, at Newport early in 1920. The following December he married Mrs Olga May Piorkowski Thomas, who had divorced Arthur Paul Thomas.

Mrs. MacRae's sister was Julia French, who divorced "Jack" Geraghty, the chauffeur, with whom she eloped, at Newport. In the meantime, Edward Tuck French, brother of "Polly" and Julia French, married Lillian "Tot" Harrington, a Manchester, N. H., telephone operator.

Edward Tuck French died, and since his death his widow has made her home with his aunt, Mrs. Stuyvesant LeRoy.

The MacRae wedding was celebrated in the bride's home at No. 129 East Eighty-second street, New York, by the Rev. Dr. William A. Kirkwood of the Broadway Tabernacle. Only relatives and close friends attended. Mr. MacRae is a clerk employed by the Central Union Trust Company and is five years younger than his bride.

AMERICAN WEDS DAUGHTER OF BRITISH NABOB

Robert McAlmon's Bride Is Child of Sir John Ellerman, Hundred-Times Millionaire

New York, March 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. McAlmon left last week for London on a honeymoon trip and to break the news of their wedding to the bride's people, who are among the wealthiest families of England.

The young couple escaped for Europe almost a week before the news of their romantic union became public. It now develops that nearly a month ago the marriage license was issued at the Municipal Building to McAlmon and Miss Winifred Ellerman, daughter of Sir John Ellerman, English shipping king, who is reputed to be one hundred times a millionaire.

Since coming to this country last Fall, the young woman has been writing under the pen name of Winifred Bryher and recently published a novel, "Development," said to be a story of herself.

The groom is a former star halfback of the University of Minnesota and a newspaperman. The couple met shortly after the appearance of Miss Ellerman's book and a rapid romance developed. They were married February 14.

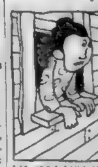

The bride's father, Sir John Ellerman, is said to be the largest shareholder in the London Times and other Northcliffe newspapers next to Lord Northcliffe. He holds more shares in important British newspapers than any other one man.

RECORD BROKEN IN REGIMENTAL ENTRY LIST

1,453 BOYS IN SCHOOL GAMES

Seniors Top List With 591 Names; English High Has 316 Competing Athletes

All records for entries in local school sports are broken in the list for the Boston regimental games to be held in the East Armory for the four days beginning March 23. More than 1,100 boys have signified their intention to compete and the list of entries totals 1,453.

The entries are split up in divisions as follows: 591 in the senior, 542 in the intermediate and [illegible] in the junior.

English High, with 316, has the greatest number, and Commerce is second with 198. West Roxbury offers 142, Hyde Park and Trade 122 apiece, and Boston Latin 116.

Our Daily 'Dope'

By GILL

THE Boxing Commission has pulled another prize "bone."

Through some strange line of reasoning Messrs. Foote, Buckley and Barrett have decided that no one club can run two shows the same week.

The ring sport is becalmed at the present time—there are only two clubs operating—the Carlyle A. C. and the Commonwealth A. A.

This means two shows a week for the fans, and to relieve the situation the managers o fthe C. A. A. planned a few double headers.

No conflict with other clubs was possible and the idea seemed to go big with the fans.

The commissioners decided against the plan, however, and this in spite of the fact that recently localclubs (amateurs and professionals) were holding forth six nights a week.

A busy small club is just as important as an idle big cub and the ruling of the commissioners does not savor of a square deal for either club or boxing fan.

WHO are you going to root for this season—the New York Red Sox, the Cleveland Red Sox or the wreck of the Red Sox here at home?

* * *

THE schoolboy ice hockey situation is becoming somewhat slushy. As matters now stand, Newton, Melrose and Cambridge Latin are in a triple tie for top honors in the Suburban League.

Newton holds the cup and may continue to do so until the series is decided. Cambridge Latin is anxious to play but Melrose does not seem to relish the idea. Melrose according to one report would not be able to stand the physical strain of such a series although it is the proud boast of several of the Melrose rooters that the team went through one entire week with games daily.

The Newton players seem willing enough to settle matters, but it is said they will not get in unless Melrose is also in the series.

OUR old friend, "Doc" Almy, boxing editor of the Post, is still harping about the Smith-Greb and the Carlson-Martin decisions. Where do you find the time to write all those letters, Doc?

* * *

EVERETT SCOTT is to be appointed captain of the Red Sox, according to the latest news rumblings from Hot Springs, where Hughey Duffy is trying to mould a ball club out of a lot of mediocre material.

If Frazee would listen to some of the baseball logic of the little Fadeiu wizard he would probably be able to get his club on Victory Trail once more.

Scott has always advocated spending money for star minor league ball players. Such a plan, however, wouldn't make a hit with Heartless Harry Frazee.

The latter has been in the habit of receiving a big cash consideration along with every ball player who has joined the Boston club in recent years. Consequently he would fail to lap any much enthusiasm if a minor league magnate asked him for $10,000 or so for a sensation like young Mails who pitched Cleveland to the American League pennant last year.

* * *

Where is "Dare Devil" Davo? George V. Tuohey, his sidekick for a night, is training all his Big Berthas on Gardini's manager, and the old wrestling feud is warming up.

* * *

"IF I keep on batting the way I have of late I will soon be good enough to be traded to the Yankees."

This statement has been made frequently during the past few years by members of the Red Sox. They realize that Frazee will sell any of his assets if offered the proper price.

When Harry Hooper asked a salary of $15,000 for this year, he knew the Boston Club would never pay it to him. He also realized that Frazee would not let a salable ball player remain on a ranch in California once rival clubs got bidding for his services. Hooper's reasoning proved correct when the brilliant right fielder was traded to Chicago.

* * *

WE wish Scott the best of luck in his new position. He should prove a fighting captain, but it is mighty disheartening fighting a strong opponent when not provided with the material with which to meet the other fellow's spurt. Boston's baseball strength in the American League is now represented by figures in Frazee's bank account.

DOWN at Galveston, Tex., the Braves are trying to convince the world they still possess a ball club. Time alone will tell whether Fred Mitchell will be able to put a club in the field which will at least remind the fans of "Miracle Man" Stallings' sensational world's champions of 1914.

We know a lot of sandlot players who have had it all over some of the alleged stars who have drawn real money for their services at the "Home of Empty Bleachers" during the past couple of seasons.

BOSTON GOLFER FAVORITE IN GOLF PLAY

Whittemore of Brookline Star at Pinehurst—Newton, Elliott and Willborn Also Qualify

By ROBERT E. HARLOW

Pinehurst, N. C., March 11.—Boston landed four golfers in the first sixteen of the Spring golf tournament here and one of the number, Parker Whittemore of the Brookline Country Club, was favored to win.

Frank Newton, also of Brookline and winner of the event last year, was another Boston golfer to qualify.

Fred Elliott and H. G. Wellborn, both of Woodland, also got into the first sixteen.

Loring Coes of Worcester was unfortunate enough to miss the first sixteen by one shot, but had the satisfaction of winning the low gross prize in the official tournament for Worcester County golfers which is held each year in connection with the Pinehurst Spring event.

Match play started today and the draw was not favorable to the Massachusetts delegation as Newton and Elliott met in a first-round match and Whittemore and Wellborn were also drawn in the same half.

TWENTY-EIGHT BOUTS AT ST. PHILIP'S SHOW

Twenty-eight bouts were conducted by the St. Philip's T. A. at the Scenic Temple. The final bouts:

108 pounds—Frank Sheehan, Roxbury, defeated Joe Carney, South Boston, three rounds.

TECH CONFIDENT OF DOWNING B. U. FIVE

Coach Allen of the Tech basketball quintet is confident of victory but is playing safe in preparing his charges for the game with the Boston University five at the Walker Memorial gym tonight. Although handicapped by a late start B. U. has gained a recent victory and a close and hard game is expected. The loss of Hubbard as right foreward is much felt in the regular Tech array. Tech's lineup is as follows: Landis and Boyer, forwards; Bretting, centre; Blood and Tonan, guards.

TECH GYMNASTS MEET HARVARD AND YALE

The regular Tech gym squad travels to the Harvard Hemenway gym tomorrow night to face Yale and Harvard in the triangular gym meet. This is the fourth game of their lengthy schedule for the engineers. Tech will send its regular team with the exception of Spengler who is substituting for Davidson. The Crimson team is not conceded to be very strong, but the skilful and scrappy outfit of the Elis should give the Tech huskies some stiff opposition.

HAMILTON LEADER, WHITTEMORE NEXT

Pinehurst, N. C., March 11.—Louis A. Hamilton of Garden City led a field of ninety-eight in the qualifying round of the seniors' golf tournament. Parker W. Whittemore of Brookline was second. Hamilton's card read 78-79-157, while Whittemore scored 80-78-158. F. C. Newton of Brookline and F. B. Elliott of Woodland were the other Greater Boston men to qualify in the first flight.

BILLY IS BETTER BOXER THAN JIMMY

CHICK MILLER READY TO BOX ANYONE

South End Boxer Promises to Make Things Interesting for Local Welters

By RINGSIDE.

"I stand ready to battle any welterweight in New England. All I ask is that the promoters secure for me an opponent who can fight, a fellow who will swap punches in the centre of the ring."

Charley (Chick) Miller of the South End is the young man who made the above statement. Miller did considerable boxing in this sector of the land of the brave a couple of years ago, but when he could get no more opponents he entered business.

The renewed interest in the welterweight class has caused Miller to announce a come-back. For two weeks he has been busy training each day and is now fit to meet all comers.

Miller's record is one knockout victory after another. Tough fellows like Joe Chick, Young Farrell, Harry Silva, Greek Alger and Joe Bushnell were flattened in jig time by the South Ender.

Charley now wants to pin a kayo smash on Jack Thomas' chin. Thomas is the Canadian welterweight champion and thinks he can wallop any man of his weight in this part of the country. Miller is willing to accommodate him. And the record book shows that they don't come too tough for the local youth.

Shaver O'Brien Is Proud Father Now

The stork fluttered in at Shaver O'Brien's home in South Boston and left a twelve-pound boy. Of course the South Boston boxer was tickled over the new arrival. He remarked that the youngest member of the O'Brien family has shoulders and arms like Charley White, famous Chicago lightweight. Shaver feels sure that the youngster will some day develop into a knockout king.

O'Brien by the way let it be known that he will resume training in a couple of days and will then be prepared to meet Jack Thomas on a winner-take-all basis.

Big Entry List for Apollo A. A. Bouts

A large entry list has been received for the open amateur tournament of the Apollo A. A. which will be staged at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin square, next Tuesday night. There will be four open classes, namely, 108, 115, 125 and 145 pounds. There will also be three specials. Freddie Satterell, Cambridge, will battle Frankie Wallace, South Boston; Henry Bohlin, Brockton, will mingle with Eddie Waters, North End, while Henry Ford, North End, will clash with Tommy Fall, Lowell.

Their Favorite Sport—and Why

No. 34

By JOSEPH J. LANNIN.

Checkers! That's my favorite sport.

I believe a man's chief form of recreation should be something that he is able to play himself. You hear men every day saying that baseball, football or boxing is their favorite sport and they never participated in any of these pastimes.

Don't be a lookeron. Get into the game yourself. I take pride in stating that few people can beat me at checkers. When I owned the Red Sox I used to have considerable fun spotting Bill Carrigan, Tris Speaker and the rest of the boys from one to two checkers and then winning handily.

Commonwealth Club Not to Run Show

There will not be any show at the Commonwealth A. A. tomorrow night on account of the ruling of the Boxing Commission which prevents a club from staging two shows the same week. We would agree with the logic of the boxing solons if another club were conducting a week end show. Inasmuch as there has not been any professional show since Tuesday and the Commonwealth Club was the only one in the field for the week-end, we don't believe the commission used a great deal of "horse sense" in making its decision. Conflicts should be prevented when possible, but there is no reason why a club which has its own quarters should not be allowed to conduct as many shows each week as it desires as long as it is not interfering with the general good of the ring game.

COOMBS ASKS STUDENTS FOR MORAL SUPPORT

Williamstown, March 11.—An appeal to the student body to encourage the members of the baseball squad to observe regular rules has been issued by Coach Jack Coombs. Coombs has also requested the students to refrain from criticizing any misplays which may occur in the practice or regular games.

WILSON AND O'DOWD MATCHED FOR TITLE BOUT MARCH 17

CHAMPION WILL GET $50,000

Rivals to Battle Over 15-Round Route at New York Garden

By JACK CONWAY

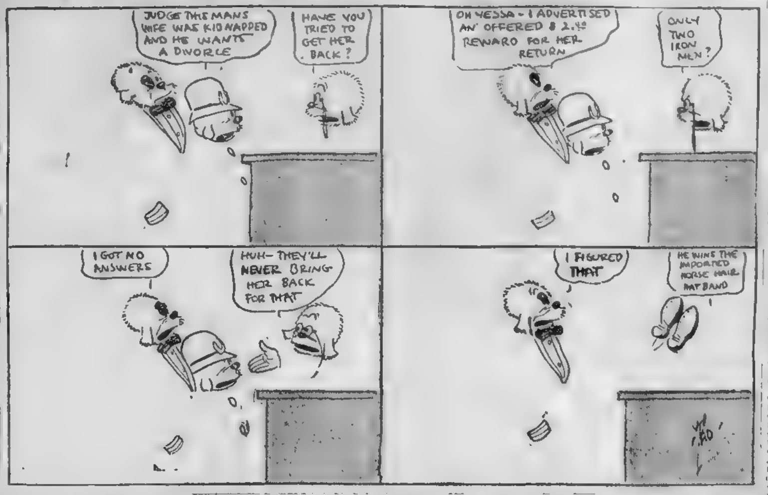

Johnny Wilson will defend his title as world's middleweight champion against Mike O'Dowd in a fifteen-round decision battle at Madison Square Garden on St. Patrick's Day night. The match will be staged under the direction of Tex Rickard.

Wilson has been guaranteed $50,000 for his services. He will also have the privilege of accepting 40 per cent of the gross receipts if this should amount to more than the sum guaranteed. It is the largest purse ever offered a middleweight in the history of the boxing game.

Marty Killilea today signed the articles of agreement which were verbally agreed on earlier. He immediately forwarded the papers to Rickard in New York.

When O'Dowd lost his title to Wilson in a contest at Mechanics Building under the direction of the Fenway A. C. last May, the dethroned champion was paid a little less than $5,000 for his services. He supposed he was fighting a setup only to collide with a man who proved more than his equal at punching and boxing.

Dorchester Kids Right! They Are Training at Home

Why go to Hot Springs or Galveston to train for the opening of the baseball season?

The Sporting Editor asked this question as he breezed into the office today after watching a flock of youngsters playing ball on one of the Dorchester playgrounds. The S. E. then gave orders for the staff to get busy and prepare to make the Boston American the headquarters for the future greats this coming season.

Managers of amateur nines are urged to send in their challenges and lineups and other gossip of their outfits. All news of interest will be published.

BRAVES BOXMEN ABOUT READY TO CUT LOOSE

Townsend and Gibson Show Up Well in Trying-Out Process

By NICK FLATLEY

Galveston, Tex., March 11.—The collection of Brave pitchers is just about ready to start putting something on the ball and Manager Fred Mitchell is waiting for a real blaze of Texas sunshine to give the word. Thus far Ol' Sol hasn't been a frequent visitor at the training camp. There was one rainy day, and two or three others were windy and cloudy, with the air a bit too cool for real strenuous arm exercise.

Mitchell has shifted his program once more—changed it when [illegible] at the lowering clouds [illegible] the Gulf and [illegible] was advertised by the [illegible] the athletes were dragged from the hotel early and taken to the park and put through all the usual stunts.

The showers didn't come, but the threat was still there and accordingly the workout was one of the most strenuous of the week. After it the troupe was once more [illegible] out and played some seven or eight innings of scrub baseball, with every pitcher having a chance on the mound. Even the Texas fans, who had nothing else to do, couldn't keep track of the score.

Mitchell Praises Players' Spirit

"The spirit the players are showing this year," declares Mitchell, "is the finest I have seen in fifteen or more years in the [illegible]. The ones who know they can make the grade are generally inclined to [illegible] a bit and not push [illegible] too much. But there hasn't been any of that here.

"Everybody is agreed that what is good for one is good for all, and the whole squad is cutting loose as much as I'll let them at every practice. That enthusiasm is one of the real essentials of a good ball club. A hustling team with players good enough to make the big league grade will come pretty close to any first division without the aid of a lot of stars.

"Until I get the whole crowd working next week I naturally will not have a good line on what kind of a team the Braves will have this season, but I will say that if the rest get down to business as willingly and as earnestly as the bunch here we'll have a better club at Braves Field than has been there for some time."

The new manager has been especially impressed with the preliminary performances of two of the strangers—Frank Gibson, catcher, and Leo Townsend, pitcher. Both have the actions of seasoned performers and the keenness of natural ball players.

This Day in Our History—March 11, 1921

THIS is the anniversary of the sailing from New York, in 1841, of the steamship President, which was lost at sea and never heard from. Its disappearance is one of the mysteries of trans-Atlantic navigation.

Saturn Takes His Turn

THE ringed planet Saturn, the only world in the solar system big enough to rival Jupiter, has now taken Jupiter's place in midheaven at midnight, being in opposition to the sun. Saturn's wonderful rings are now edgewise toward the earth.

The Passionate Pilgrim

"The most gripping of Samuel Merwin's novels, made into one of the Cosmopolitan Productions' superlative photo-plays, is now being shown to the leading motion picture theatres.

"ONE would naturally look for some one like that. We're a bit worried. For one thing, he's young. And presentable enough, in a way. As out-and-out adventurer, clearly. Now, with Miriam there in the . . . this thought has occurred to me. Couldn't Esther persuade her to take a trip? Run over to England, say. The sea air would be good. And it would give us time to get hold of the situation."

"Miriam's a strange girl," he said. "She and Esther have next to nothing in common. She oughtn't to be alone there with only Mrs. Bentley and Miss Russell, and the servants. Esther has spoken of it. But Miriam just gets mad. We're helpless. She's been an invalid so long, and Mr. Canley made so much of her those last years. . . . the fact is, I doubt if Miriam can be managed at all. She'd never let Esther carry her off."

"Could Miriam be influenced at all through Mrs. Bentley?"

Will Appleby shook his head again; threw out a hand. "Mrs. Bentley is, when all's said and done, a hired housekeeper. And she knows when paying her."

"And Miss Russell's a hired ——"

"Exactly."

Nothing to Be Done

There seemed to be nothing, at the moment, to be done. Mr. Ammes walked briskly to his office, brows knit, eyes intent on the pavement. Will Appleby smoked fast as he rode in his automobile to the factory.

Oswald Qualters was back Monday morning. Faintly smiling he called up Harvey O'Neil and suggested lunch. Since Tim's little disclosure he had smiled a good deal over Harvey.

Ammie joined them and offered a report concerning the check and the Stafford finances. O'Neil let him do the talking.

Said Qualters:

"That'll help some. We'll get into Iran. He's an out-and-out crook."

"I should hardly have thought that." This from Ammie.

Qualters lighted a cigarette. "The name Stafford's an alias."

"You know that?"

"I've got line, out," said Qualters. "Have it a mere shortly. We want to find out a little about the check, too. Then we can close in on him."

"Close in?" The question was O'Neil's.

"Going over Bob's head?"

"Bob's had his chance. I'm going to take it up with the fellow direct."

"But he'll go straight to Bob."

"Not when I'm through with him. No, he won't go to Bob. He'll leave town, if he's lucky enough to keep out of jail."

The Appleby discussed the matter at home while dressing for a dance at the golf club, guardedly. For there were profound reticences between them in the matter of Canley Estate.

"Saw Mrs. Bentley down-town," said Esther. She stood before her mirror, combing up her hair. She was shorter than her sister, and of plumper mold. Her face was round, pretty, smoothly expressionless. "Miriam's flat again. Wandering herself out trying to run that big place. Why can't she make up her mind she's an invalid and let it go at that? I'm sure we'd all be glad to do what we could to make it easy for her."

"Mrs. Bentley say anything"—Will was buttoning a shoe—"she say anything about the young fellow they've got working there?"

"No." Esther stood motionless, her shapely white arms about her head. "What young fellow? What do you mean?"

"They wouldn't do that without consulting us!"

"They have."

"But just as a matter of common courtesy—my own father—"

"Bob's turned him loose there, in the study."

"Who is he."

"Nobody seems to know. Ammie's worried. Seems to be an adventurer."

"But Miriam's rooms are right next the—Mr. Listerly shouldn't have done a thing like that!"

"I should think you could have protested."

On the Other Shoe

Will began the other shoe.

"It isn't as if Miriam were a sophisticated girl—used to men. Esther, here was Will Appleby talking himself thinking aloud. "You know, Will, if it should ever come to a question of her marrying—I mean if she were well enough, and it was a man we knew would be good to her—I wouldn't for one moment stand in her way. Not for one moment. . . . Why did he have to let him work right there in the house?"

"The papers are all there."

Esther was distrait, if smooth and smiling, all the evening. Shortly after breakfast next morning she dropped in at the old Canley place.

Mrs. Bentley—gray, calm to the point of stupidity, respectful—had her in the hall. She thought Miss Canley was feeling a little better.

"The young man is working here today, is he?"

"Mr. Stafford? Yes, he went up a few minutes ago. He comes at nine."

Esther's glance rested a moment on the housekeeper; then she went on upstairs.

The study door was shut. She eyed it with cold curiosity.

To the nurse, she said

"My sister is ill, Miss Russell?"

"Dr. Martin has just left, Mrs. Appleby. He says she is better.

"What's the trouble?"

"Ire hard to say. Temperature, and a little delirium. A nervous setback. She insisted on getting up this morning, but Dr. Martin told her she must stay abed another day. I've thought—"

Miss Russell, hesitating, glanced toward the study door. Esther's gaze followed.

"Well," said Esther then, "what have you thought?"

"It's not a thing I'd speak of, Mrs. Appleby, but I should think it would be disturbing to have a stranger up here, working among Mr. Canley's things. She's almost lived in that room. It meant a great deal to her."

All the time she was sitting at Miriam's bedside Esther was considering this speech. Had the girl meant to be placed in charge of it? Curiosity burned in her brain. Miriam, too, seemed strung up, touchy.

Esther told herself that she had some rights in the matter. Even if her father had left the control of his vast properties to this girl, surely her only sister was responsible for their safeguardfication. The little sisterly quarrel they had but set her thoughts the more firmly.

Esther said—after expressing sympathy and telling of the society of the club—looking critically about her:

"You ought to give up this big place, Miriam. Though goodness knows I don't want the care of it, myself. But you're simply wearing yourself out. You ought to take Miss Russell and Mrs. Bentley and go to a sanatorium and really rest. You can't carry all this burden."

Miriam said she was really more comfortable here at home.

"But, my dear, here are Will and I. I'm sure Will would be glad to help in any way he could. Business advice, that sort of thing. Here you are, you see, within a few months of taking over the estate from the trustees, and you aren't even as well as you were last year."

The Adventures of Ann

By Hal Coffman

CHAPTER LXXXV.

AS Ann stood by her barred window watching the battle between DeVera's men and the secret service detectives in the shrubbery about the house, she felt a man's arm encircle her waist. Turning quickly she recognized Harwood standing beside her. "Come with me, little girl," he said to her, "and we may yet have time to get out of this and aboard my yacht. I think there is time to hurry out the back way and I know a short cut to the harbor where the 'Patricia' is anchored. Come!"

"Nothing would induce me to go anywhere with you," said Ann.

Harwood looked at her for a moment and then glanced out the barred window. The shots were flying fast and furious. He saw figures dodging among the vines and trees in the yard and realised they were gradually encircling the house. He knew if he was to get away he would have to hurry. As he looked back from the window, Ann was pointing a small pearl-handled revolver at him. Mrs. De Vera had given it to her when the trouble started with the quick warning: "Defend yourself with it if you need to."

Ann looked at him steadily and in a firm tone said: "Put your hands up and stand still. I hope the girl we both knew in New York, now dead, is watching us."

Harwood glanced out of the window and cried: "Look, look, is that an American?" Ann forgot all else but Frank for a moment and ran to the window. That moment was enough. Harwood knocked the revolver from her hand and was gone.

EVYTH voice trailed off and we sat staring at each other while I watched for the end of her sentence. After a time, however, I realised that Evvy had gone as far as the delicacy I had just discovered in her would permit.

Suddenly I knew that I liked Evvy, that I respected her and that back of both feelings was a basic one. I trusted Evelyn Mason. I couldn't blurt out my discovery that she was a big soul, but I could act on it.

Evvy, I understand just what ou want to say and can't. Of course it looks queer for Lane to live away the mate to the talleman which was his first gift to Val. But if has given it to Jim and not to me, would it impress you differently?"

"I'm not sure," confessed Evvy, I don't like the idea of Lane living it away. It would have meant more ——"

"It was given to me to use for Jim and me," I interjected. "It was given to me to send Lane if either of us ever needed a friend. Jim was kept in town the last night Lane was here, so there wasn't even a goodby for them. But I think Lane would have given it to me in any event. Val turned against me—and this was his way of making it up to me."

Big and Loyal

"I think Lane's big and loyal," I replied slowly. "Once a friend, always a friend,' is his motto."

"But you're saying he's loyal. That might mean he'd force himself to stick to Val because of a sense of duty, out of fine principles. You aren't saying he's ready to give her the big love she's prepared to meet. And she needs it more than she ever has. Val may be a splendid woman now or—who knows?"

Then Evvy blurted out the beginning of a sentence that made us face each other with burning cheeks.

"Anna, I really know this, but I just want to hear you say that you're a woman who'd never hurt another by taking—by trying to take——"

"I'd never hurt another woman by taking one jot of the love that was hers," I said, firmly. Not even if it wanted to come."

"Of course I know that. But somehow, strangely, I wanted to hear you say it." said Evvy simply.

Then she leaned over and kissed me softly on the cheek, and after a moment she pulled me to my feet.

"Tomorrow or so I'll come to Dreamwold to call. On Virginia's account, I may display all the dignity and formality in the world. But we'll know, won't we, Anna?"

"We'll know," I replied.

Evvy laughed, and the husky sweetness of her tones was utterly sincere.

The road I took was the shortest one to Dreamwold. It saved as much as five minutes.

Later I blessed the short cut that brought me back just as the telephone over the niche was tinkling out the end of a long summons I'd heard on the path. Marvelling at the quiet and seeming emptiness of the house, I hurried to the telephone.

Long Distance Calling

"Mrs. James Harrison?" asked the operator. "Just a minute, Mrs. Harrison. Long distance is calling. El Rey will speak to you."

With the receiver to my ear, I waited, my heart thumping away madly. After a while the operator's voice spoke again.

"Mrs. Harrison? All right, go ahead El Rey. Ready. Just a minute, Mrs. Harrison. Ready El Rey All right now. Go ahead."

Then a faint, rebounding out clear and firm across miles of space, came my Jim's voice.

"Anne, dear, is it you at last? I'm so glad I've managed to get you. Been trying an hour and in another ten minutes I'm calling away to Scish——"

Then sound burred off and silence fell on a dead wire. I rattled the receiver again and again. No answer.

For several minutes I stood rattling the telephone hook up and down, striving by every means in my power to coax back some sign of life to the dead line so that I might hear my Jim's voice again. Then suddenly a voice challenged me from the room itself

"What's the game you're playing with Central, Anna? Being how often you can flash your light in a minute?"

"Jeanie!" I cried, hanging up the receiver with a final click of exasperation. "Where is every one in this house. If only some one had been here to answer the phone! Jim's been trying to get us by long distance for an hour, and I came in just in time to hear his voice and then to be shut off."

"He will call you back," Virginia said carelessly.

"If only some one had been here!" I found myself wailing again. "It's no use now. He won't be able to call me again, for he had—only 10 minutes before—leaving."

"WHEN you have lived as long as I have, perhaps you will think differently, Mr. Hodder." Elton Parr's voice had abruptly grown metallic, as though the full realization had come over him of the severity of the clergyman's arraignment; the audacity of the man who had ventured to oppose him and momentarily defeated him, who had won the allegiance of his own daughter, who had dared condemn him as an old-fogy and give advice as to his future course. He, Eldon Parr, who had been used to settle the destinies of men! His anger was suddenly at white heat; and his voice, which he strove to control, betrayed it.

"Since you have rejected my offer, which was made in kindness, since you are bent on ruining my daughter's life as well as your own, and she has disregarded my wishes, I refuse to see either of you, no matter to what straits you may come, as long as I live. That is understood. And she leaves this house today, never to enter it again It is useless to prolong this conversation, I think."

"Quite useless, as I feared, Mr. Parr. Do you know why Alison is willing to marry me? It is because the strength has been given me to oppose you in the name of humanity, and this in spite of the fact that I love her for you today is greater than it has ever been before. It is a part of the heavy punishment you have inflicted on yourself that you cannot believe in her purity. You insist on thinking that the time will come when she will return to you for help. In senseless anger and pride you are driving her away from you whom you will some day need. And in that day, should God grant you a relenting heart to make the sign, she will come to you—but to give comfort, not to receive it. And even as you have condemned me, I will warn you, yet not in anger. Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God, nor understand the motives of those who would enter into it. Seek and pray for repentance."

Infuriated though he was, before the commanding yet compassionate bearing of the rector he remained speechless. And after a moment's pause, Hodder turned and left the room. . . .

III

When Hodder had reached the foot of the stairs, Alison came out to him. The unwavering she wore made her seem even taller. In the face upturned to his, framed in the black veil and paler than he had known it, were traces of tears: in the eyes a sad, yet questioning and trustful smile. They gazed at each other in intensity before speaking. In the luminous ecstasy of perfect communion which shone for them, undimmed, to the surrounding gloom of tragedy. And thus they felt, it would always shine. Of that tragedy of the world's sin and sorrow they would ever be conscious. Without darkness there could be no light

"I knew," she said, reading his oldlook, "I would be of no use. Tell me the worst."

"If you marry me, Alison, your father refuses to see you again. He insists that you leave the house."

"Then why did he wish to see you?"

"It was to make an appeal. He thinks, of course, that I have made a failure of life, and that if I marry you I shall drag you down to poverty and disgrace."

She raised her head, proudly

"But he knows that it is I who insist upon marrying you! I explained it all to him—how I had asked you. Of course, he did not understand. He thinks, I suppose, that it is simply an infatuation."

Hodder Smiled

"That, my dear, doesn't relieve me of responsibility. I am just as responsible as though I had spoken first, instead of you."

"But, John, you didn't——?" A sudden fear made her silent.

He took her hand and pressed it reassuringly.

"Give you up? No, Alison," he answered simply. "When you came to me, God put you in my keeping."

She clung to him suddenly, in a passion of relief

"Oh, I never could give you up, I never would unless you yourself told me to. There I would do it—for you. But you won't ask me, now?"

He put his arm around her shoulders, and the strength of it seemed to calm her.

"No, dear, I would make the sacrifice, ask you to make it, if it would be of any good. As you say, he does not understand. And you couldn't go on living with him and loving me. That solution is impossible. We can only hope that the time will come when he will realize his need of you, and send for you."

"And did he not ask you anything more?"

Hodder hesitated. He had intended to spare her that. . . . Her divination startled him.

"I know, I know without your telling me. He offered you money, he consented to our marriage if your would give up St. John's. Oh, how could he!" she cried. "How could he so misjudge and insult you!"

"It is not me he misjudges, Alison, it is mankind—it is God. That is his terrible misfortune." Hodder released her tenderly. "You must see him—you must tell him that when he needs you, you will come."

"I will see him now," she said. "You will wait for me?"

"Now?" he repeated, taken aback by her resolution, though it was characteristic.

"Yes, I will go as I am. I can has given me no choice, no reprieve —not that I wish one. I have you, dear. I will stay with Mr. Bentley tonight, and leave for New York tomorrow, to do what I have to do—and then you will be ready for me."

"Yes," he said, "I shall be ready"

He lingered in the well-remembered hall. . . . And when at last she came down again her eyes shone bravely through her tears, her look answered the question of his own. There was no need for speech. With not so much as a look behind she left, with him, her father's house.

Became a Drizzle

Outside, the mist had become a drizzle, and as they went down the walk together beside the driveway she slipped her arm into his, pressing close to his side. Her intuition was perfect, the courage of her love sublime.

"I have you, dear," she whispered, "never in my life before have I been rich."

"Alison!"

It was all he could say, but the intensity of his wingless feeling went into the syllables of her name. An impulse made them pause and turn, and they stood looking back together at the great house which loomed the greater in the thickening darkness, its windows edged with glow. Never, as in this moment when the cold rain wet their faces, had the thought of its comfort and warmth and luxury struck them so vividly; yet, void of its terror and loneliness now, of the tortured spirit in it that found no rest.

"Oh, John," she cried, "if we only could!"

He understood her. Such was the perfect quality of their sympathy that she had voiced his thought. What were rain and cold, the inclemency of the elements, to them? What the beauty and the warmth of those great, empty rooms to Eldon Parr? Out of the heaven of their happiness they looked down, helpless, into the horrors of the luxury of hell.

"It must be," he answered her, "in God's good time."

"Life is terrible!" she said. "Think of what he must have done to suffer so, to be condemned to this! And when I went to him, just now, he wouldn't even kiss me good-by. Oh, my dear, if I hadn't had you to take me, what should I have done? . . . It never was a home to me—to any of us. And as I look back now, all the troubles began when we moved into it. I can only think of it as a house prison, all the more sinister for its costliness."

Rules of the Movie Play Title Test

The Boston American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser's new Movie Play Title Test is a test of skill and judgment open to all readers of the Boston American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, irrespective of age, living in any city or town in New England or Canada.

Two hundred and nineteen cash awards will be given by these two newspapers to their readers who submit the largest percentage of correct titles to the 60 pictures to be published one each day consecutively in the Daily American and Sunday Advertiser.

All employes of the Boston American, the Boston Sunday Advertiser, and their families are absolutely barred from participating in the awards.

The Test will consist of 60 pictures, representing the title of a Moving Picture Play, to be printed one each day in the Boston American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, first picture, Sunday, February 27, 1921.

Participation in any other contest which has been run, which is now running or which may be run by the Boston American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser will not debar anyone from entering this test.

Every participant or any or all members of a family will be allowed to submit one set of pictures, but each must contain only ONE TITLE to each picture, and no participant shall be entitled to more than one award and not more than one award shall be given to any one family.

Each and every title must be neatly written or printed on the coupon furnished by the Boston American or Boston Sunday Advertiser, or a pen or pencil copy thereof, and must have the name, residence, etc., of the participant on each title blank.

Do not send your titles in "list" form, i. e., do not write titles under one another on a piece of paper.

In case there are not complete sets of correct titles, awards will be given to the person submitting the nearest correct solutions, giving weight to skill and judgment.

In case of a tie, awards will be made on the basis of neatness, judgment and exact accuracy, but if the tie cannot be decided in that way the tied participants will receive similar awards.

Under no circumstances should participants send in their titles before the end of the Test, as any sent in before the last picture is printed will not be considered. KEEP your titles from day to day and at the end of the Test arrange them in numerical order and then send them in all together at one time.

Time will not be a factor in making the awards. The first titles sent in after the Test closes will stand no better than the last submitted.

All titles must be delivered to the Boston American Movie Play Title Headquarters at No. 80 Summer street, Boston 3, Mass., either by mail or in person within the specified time limit which will be announced later.

All envelopes or packages containing titles must be legibly addressed as follows: "Movie Play Title Editor, No. 80 Summer street, Boston 3, Mass., P. O. Box 239," and each envelope or package must bear the name and address of the sender legibly written or stamped on the upper left-hand corner.

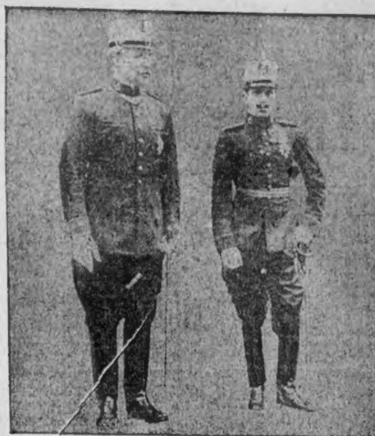

As all pictures in the Test will contain written or printed matter, if mailed, it is absolutely necessary that the package be fully prepaid at postal letter rates, as mail of this character goes to the postoffice as first-class matter. The Boston American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser reserve the right to refuse to consider any sets of titles on which charges for postal delivery are not fully prepaid.

There will be no title or answer book to buy. Lists of Movie Titles will be printed in the Boston American and in the Boston Sunday Advertiser. This list appearing will contain among others the correct titles.

Participants who desire further information should address their inquiries to the Movie Play Title Editor, No. 80 Summer street, Boston 3, Mass. Questions will be answered as far as possible through the columns of the Boston American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser. If participants desire personal replies, they should enclose sufficient postage for such a reply, or they may phone Main 5180 or call in person.

The Boston American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser reserve the right to make any change in, or addition to, these conditions that they may deem necessary for fairly and properly conducting the Test, and the decision of the Boston American Play Title Editor on any question which may arise will be absolutely final, and the entry of a participant is a complete acceptance of all conditions and regulations now made or to be made.

DETAILS OF THE MOVIE PLAY TITLE TEST, WITH NAMES OF THE CO-OPERATING THEATRES, WILL BE FOUND ON PAGE 11

A GOOD HAND TO DRAW TO—Here's a pair of Kings, Albert of Belgium (on the left) and Alfonso of Spain, snapped as they appeared at Madrid during the recent visit of Albert and his Queen. The two monarchs are wearing the uniform of Spanish colonels. The rulers of Belgium received a tremendous ovation from the Spanish people. (U. & U.)

EX-KAISER'S FAVORITE STEIN—One of the objects of art, the property of the former ruler of Germany, now on exhibit in New York, where they will be auctioned off next May.

THE INTERLOPER ON SHIPBOARD—The monkey mascot of the battleship Wyoming, now down on the southern drill grounds, objects seriously to the intrusion of the Panama boar, who merely wants to get acquainted. (Int.)

HERE'S ANOTHER PAIR OF PANTALETTES—They are just like those grandma used to wear when she was a little girl—but the girl in the picture is no grandma. She's Miss Ducie of Chicago displaying for such as like to look the very latest thing in hosiery. She is very easy to look at. (International.)

NO PAPER PATTERN THIS—It's a giant pattern for the boiling chamber of a blast furnace, and as photographed had just been turned out by the largest of the Chicago pattern works. It is of white pine and is eight and a half feet in diameter. When the casting is complete it will weigh half a ton. (Int.)

AN AMERICAN PRINCESS—It's the Princess Anastasia, formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds of Chicago, and now the wife of Prince Christopher of Greece and very, very ill. (U. & U.)

IT'S WAITING FOR YOU—IN THE BAHAMAS—Nassau, Bahamas, simply can't find room for the thousands upon thousands of barrels of spirits "deported" from the United States under the Volstead act. Here are shown a few of the barrels stored in Bay street, pending transfer to one of the old forts near the town.

AIDING YOUNG GERMANY TO GROW—The privations of the war stunted the growth of many German children. Here is shown a new method of treating undernourished kiddies, whose bones are decaying.

SIX LITTLE BUTTERFLIES—Three on each stocking are said to be the latest of fashion's fads. The hose are black silk and the butterflies are white. London society is reported to have gone mad over the style and everybody is wearing 'em now, even those who lay no claim to being in the "hupper clarses."

SUNDAY'S TOMMY'S BUSY DAY IN IRELAND—An amazing raid took place recently in Fairview, Dublin, when several hundred troops in scores of lorries, entered the allotment grounds and searched for arms. The railroad line was placed under military control, soldiers guarding the entire line against possible attack from the Irish Volunteers in that quarter. The photo shows a squad starting for the raid. (Central.)

JACK ASHORE ENJOYING HIMSELF—The American sailorman is the best of good mixers. Witness the free and easy manner in which he takes control of the situation "on board" the horse-drawn street car in Bridgetown, Barbadoes, where the Atlantic fleet recently paused for a rest, and a bit of jollification. Even the horses appear a bit perked up.

FRECKLES

March Brings Out Unsightly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

The woman with tender skin dreads March because it is likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, Othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength Othine should remove them. Get an ounce from your druggist and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.—Advertisement.

NO MORE FOOT MISERY

ICE-MINT

A NEW DISCOVERY STOPS SORENESS AND CORNS FALL OFF

Just a touch or two with Ice-Mint and your corns and foot troubles are ended. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callous shrivels and lifts off.

No matter what you have tried or how many times you have been disappointed here is a real help for you at last.

You will never have to cut a corn again or bother with bungling tape or plasters.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful. You feel no pain or soreness when applying Ice-Mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin.

This new discovery made from a Japanese product is certainly magical the way it draws out inflammation from a pair of swollen, burning, aching feet. Ice-Mint imparts such a delightful cooling, soothing feeling to the feet that it just makes you sigh with relief. It is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthy little feet. It is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes. It absolutely prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable.

It costs little and will give your poor, tired, suffering, swollen feet the treat of their lives. Sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

Banish Catarrh

Breathe Hyomei For Two Minutes and Stuffed Up Head Will Go

If you want to get safe relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time, breathe Hyomei.

It will clean out your head in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely, awake or asleep, or money refunded.

Hyomei should end a cold in one day, and relieve you of disgusting snuffles, hawking, spitting and offensive breath in a week.

Hyomei is made chiefly from eucalyptus, a soothing, healing, germ-killing antiseptic, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, where catarrh, asthma and other bronchial troubles are seldom known.

Hyomei is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the Hard Rubber Inhaler, use as directed and relief is almost certain.

A Complete Hyomei Outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomei, costs but little at druggists everywhere.

MI-O-NA
Ends indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching, and all stomach diseases or money back. Large box of tablets at all druggists in all towns.

FREE TO ASTHMA SUFFERERS

Free Trial of a Method That Anyone Can Use Without Discomfort or Loss of Time

We have a method for the control of Asthma, and we want you to try it at our expense. HEAVY DAMAGE IS CAUSED BY FLOODS

Trolleys Held Up, Bridges Covered With Water and Homes Are Abandoned

Rains earlier in the week followed by warm weather which thawed the ice on streams, resulted today in many New England rivers being on a rampage. Highways were obliterated in several sections, cellars were flooded and trolley lines crippled.

In Massachusetts the chief damage was in the Berkshire region. Construction work on the Springfield-West Springfield bridge was inundated when the Connecticut River rose to the 14-foot stage.

Trolley service between Springfield and Westfield was resumed today, following an interruption due to the rapid rise of the Westfield River. Residents of East Main street in Westfield, in some instances, abandoned their homes temporarily, owing to the stream's condition.

The New Haven railroad station at Lenox was flooded and fires put out by a freshet. Fourteen bridges on the Washington Mountain road between Pittsfield and Lee were inundated.

Ice jams caused the Connecticut River to rise sharply at Brattleboro, Vt. Claremont, N. H., estimated its loss from heavy rains and high water at $20,000, and in Keene, N. H., many cellars were flooded.

SAFE-BREAKERS' CASE POSTPONED A WEEK

The cases of Thomas Logan, 19 years old, of West Second street; Vincent Courtney, 20 years old, of East Fifth street, and Nicholas McCann, 19 years old, of East Seventh street, all of South Boston, who were captured last week in the act of breaking the safe of Sumner Crosby & Son of No. 69 Dorchester avenue, South Boston, were continued one week in the South Boston Court today. Logan is still in the hospital, being treated for the bullet wound in his shoulder that he received when the trio were caught.

STOVE CAUSES FIRE IN LEXINGTON STATION

Fire, caused by an over-heated stove, was discovered in the Lexington Station of the Boston & Maine railroad today by Patrolman Frank Fletcher. The fire department answered a still alarm and, after ripping up part of the station floor, extinguished the blaze. The damage was slight.

CHRISTOPHER CARPENTER PASSES AWAY IN WOBURN

Christopher J. Carpenter, foreman of the Woburn moth department, died today at his home, No. 34 Warren avenue, that city. He was born in Woburn, December 21, 1885, son of Patrick and Mary McKee Carpenter. Besides a widow and three children, he is survived by three brothers and three sisters. Mr. Carpenter was a member of Woburn Council, K. of C. Funeral services will take place Monday morning.

BROOKLINE TO VOTE $250 FOR TARGET PRACTICE

The report of the Committee of Thirty for appropriations and articles in the warrant of the Brookline town meeting next Tuesday is announced today. The proposed general appropriations are $3,960,536.67, and special appropriations, $142,029.27. The committee recommends a decrease of $1,600 in the allowance to the school department as a result of lowered fuel costs and the elimination of an item of ... for furniture. The appropriations include one of $250 for ammunition for target practice for the police.

Why You Must Have Iron to Make Your Body Strong and Your Brain Keen

Alert and Powerful—Value of Spinach and Organic Iron to Help Make Rich Red Blood and Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

WITH PLENTY OF BLOOD AND IRON, YOUR BRAIN is the most wonderful thing in all creation but without these it is nothing. IRON TAKES OXYGEN from your lungs and carries it to your brain. Without iron your brain gets no oxygen; and without plenty of rich red blood and oxygen your brain becomes dull and heavy, YOUR INTELLECT POOR, your memory fails, YOU DO FOOLISH THINGS, make bad decisions and you really amount to nothing, so far as accomplishing anything of importance is concerned.

Also without iron YOUR BLOOD BECOMES THIN AND WATERY and loses its power to change food into living cells and tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good—you do not get the full strength out of it.

THERE ARE 30,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

When, as a result of iron starvation you get up feeling tired in the morning, when you find yourself nervous, irritable and easily upset; when you can no longer do your day's work without being all fagged out at night; when your digestion all goes wrong, or you have pains across the back and your face looks pale and drawn, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration, or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but eat more spinach and other iron-containing vegetables and take organic iron with them to help enrich your blood and revitalize your wornout exhausted nerves. But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Organic iron may be had from your druggist under the name of NUXATED IRON. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly concentrated form that one dose is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart of spinach or one quart of green vegetables. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

NUXATED IRON ENRICHES THE BLOOD—GIVES YOU NEW STRENGTH AND ENERGY

MARCH 11, 1921
BOSTON

"Help Europe!"

"Help Europe!" is the call from every nook and corner of the White Man's world. It comes by mail, by cable, by word of mouth from statesmen, from editors, from publicists, from propagandists.

"Help Europe!" is the cry from a dozen Cabinets on the European continent—from a score of Cabinet ministers and ex-ministers. It is echoed by hundreds of their orators and agents in the United States and is repeated by thousands of Americans!

"Help Europe!" is the appeal of the League of Nations in conference and of the nations of the league individually. So universal is the plea that one would think helping Europe was a new proposal, that Europe had received no help heretofore, that Europe was receiving no help now.

Help Europe? When in the last four years have we ceased to help Europe?

Did we help Europe when we spent $25,000,000,000 in eighteen months and saved our allies from passing under the German yoke? Europe thought so then; why not now?

Did we help Europe when our government made loans of $10,000,000,000 to the allies? Europe said so at the time; would she speak otherwise now?

Did we help Europe when our government let these loans run without demand or settlement, when we left even the $700,000,000 interest in her hands to be used at her own sweet will, to be paid at her own convenience? Europe seemed to believe so when the favor was granted; has anything occurred to change her mind?

Did we help Europe when American individuals, banks and corporations granted credits of nearly $4,000,000,000 to the business men and enterprises of our former allies? Europe had no doubts when the credits were granted; has anything happened to raise doubts now?

Did we help Europe when from private sources, we lent to her governments, national and city, $550,000,000, when by private subscription we gathered and sent abroad millions—yes, hundreds of millions—to feed the hungry, clothe the cold, house the homeless and succor the hopeless?

In four years more than $2,000,000,000 has been collected from the people of the United States and has been sent to the people of the European continent. Did we help Europe by this philanthropy? Europe certainly has felt that we did; has anything happened to alter her feelings now?

Forget the direct cost of the war, and consider the rest! What in the world's history, has there ever been like it—Ten billions! Seven-hundred millions! Four billions! Five hundred and fifty millions! Two billions! And the golden stream still flows.

The annals of the centuries will be searched in vain for such a record. It is as if the treasury of the ages had burst asunder! So colossal and so ceaseless has been the golden flood! And always in one direction! Always from America, always to Europe!

Help Europe! The United States has helped Europe as no nation ever before has helped other nations, as no people ever before helped other peoples!

The United States has helped Europe with millions, hundreds of millions and billions! For four years the appeal has been constant; the response unceasing. Consequently we Americans are paying higher taxes today than any people on the continent of Europe; our credit at home is strained, our farmers call loudly for loans that they do not get; our industry is checked; our unemployed walk the streets. And still the cry comes: "Help Europe!"

We have helped Europe; but let us face the facts—the time is here at last to help ourselves.

In helping Europe with loans we have reached our limit. We may have gone beyond it. The man who beggars his family to help his neighbor is, by common consent, a feeble creature. A government which beggars itself to help other governments is no better. Let us take this truth to heart now, today, while the nations of Europe still knock at the door of the United States Treasury and call on our government and people to forgive them their past debts and lend them more—always more.

After the Napoleonic wars England saw across the channel what the United States sees across the ocean today—a torn, ragged, devastated Europe. She stretched out her hand and helped as she could, but always without imperiling her own people. She protected her own people first and then helped others with the resources she had left. Thus while succoring the Continental nations she made herself the foremost power of Europe.

After the Civil War the United States had the sorrows and distresses of a nation at the end of a great conflict—an enormous debt, vast areas of devastation, a flood of paper money and all the demoralization of a war-weary population! Did Europe help us? Europe did not. Without rancor, it may be said, Europe not only did not help us but sought to injure us.

There is a lesson for us today in these two bits of history. From month to month, from year to year, since April, 1917, we Americans have helped Europe as no people ever before helped other peoples, but today we stand at the limit. Every further step taken at this time for the assistance of Europe will be taken to the detriment of America.

Therefore, here let us stop and stand fast. We have helped Europe. Now let us help ourselves.

GEORGE WHEELER HINMAN.

Put Guilt for Death Traps Where It Belongs

The holding for trial, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter, of the engineer and fireman of the Michigan Central train struck recently at Porter, Ind., by a New York Central train, with great loss of life, presages another failure of justice.

The Porter crossing plainly was a death trap. Roads cross in such a way as to make it possible for a collision of this kind to occur. Means of prevention are not adequate, and when a collision does occur, scores of people are killed or injured.

Placing the blame on train operatives for conditions they are powerless to remedy is unjust. The roads which have refused to spend the money to make traveling safe by eliminating these death traps are responsible, and it is the directors who should be prosecuted for manslaughter.

Union labor should organize to prevent this kind of outrage upon their members, and humane people and good citizens everywhere should join in such a crusade and compel the railroads by law to protect the lives and rights of their employes and the lives and rights of the traveling public.

More Truth Than Poetry

One Debt Cancelled

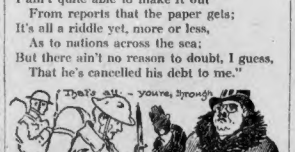

By S. E. KISER

CORPORAL COOPER is nearly blind;
His sight was injured in France;
You'd think the government ought to be kind,
And give the young fellow a chance;
But it seems that always and everywhere
There are snarls, and the tape is long;
Corporal Cooper is in despair,
Which, of course, is absurdly wrong.

HE went when they told him he'd have to go,
And he offered no alibi;
In fact, he was eager to let them know
That he wanted to fight and why.
While the corporal fought in the Yankee way
A hastening profiteer
Drove over the corporal's bride, one day—
He honked, but she didn't hear.

CORPORAL COOPER came back; they said
When he landed: "That's all; you're through;
You can thank the Lord that you don't lie dead
With others as good as you."
His legs are weakened, his shoulders bent,
His eyes have a sickly stare;
He is far from being the man who went
So willingly Over There.

"I SEE," said Cooper, "there's talk about
Havin' Uncle Sam cancel debts;
I ain't quite able to make it out
From reports that the paper gets;
It's all a riddle yet, more or less,
As to nations across the sea;
But there ain't no reason to doubt, I guess,
That he's cancelled his debt to me."

Mr. B. Baer

RUMMANCE AND ROMANCE

THERE seem to be but two rules in romance this year. Ask no questions and bury your own dead. Question of etiquette in Chicago whether a lady should shoot her affinity without a proper introduction.

MOST of the shooting engagements are due to misunderstandings. They think the stuff is whiskey. Instead, it's wood alcohol. This makes love blinder than ever.

THE couple that mistake rummance for romance are the couple that wind up getting their marriage certificate from the county coroner. The marriage ceremony is a coroner's autopsy, and there are twelve best men in the jury box.

THE bride's bouquet consists of smilax instead of orange blossoms. Or she carries a corsage of weeping willow. A disengaged lady with only two husbands meets an eligible Chicagoan, tumbles in love with him and discovers that she is spotting him eight wives.

SHE immediately rummages among her manicure set for her Smith & Wesson and starts punctuating his future with friendly bullets.

THE old billet doux is now a bullet doux. It is no crime on Long Island to shoot your husband. But out Chicagoway the ladies start popping at the clay pigeons on sight. A target is a love letter out in that pleasant haven by the lake.

RUMMANCE and romance seem to be twins in these supertaxed days. Before deciding to embark on the voyage of matrimony, a young lady should wait until she sobers up. All the gals seem to be doing their Spring shopping in speakeasies. Gal seems to be short for gallon. And nothing short of a gallon is enough.

NOW that prohibition has been such a success, it should be given a fair trial.

By K. C. B.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.

IF YOU don't love dogs,
YOU WON'T understand.
WHAT I'M going to say,
BUT IF it happens,
YOU DO love dogs.
AND YOU have read.
ABOUT THE Airedale.
THAT CAME as a gift.
TO PRESIDENT Harding.
AND ALREADY knows.
THAT THIS kindly man,
WITH THE smiling eyes,
IS TO be its master.
AND ITS friend.
IF YOU know this,
THEN YOU'LL agree.
THERE'LL COME a day,
WHEN THE cares of state,
MAY BURDEN the mind.
OF LADDIE'S boss.
AND MORE than likely,
SHAKE HIS faith.
IN THE good intent,
OF HUMAN friend.
AND LADDIE will come,
AND HE will know.
THERE'S SOMETHING wrong.
AND HE'LL bury his head.
BETWEEN THE knees.
OF THE man he loves.
AND THE tired man.
WILL STROKE the back.
OF HIS Airedale friend.
AND AS likely as not.
HE'LL SAY to Laddie.
"YOU'RE A good old dog."
AND THEN, PERHAPS,
THEY'LL WANDER out.
ON THE White House grounds.
AND LADDIE will romp.
AND BARK his joy.
AND COAX his master.
TO MAUL him about.
AND HIS master will.
AND SO they'll play.
AND BOTH forget.
THERE WAS something wrong.
AND LOTS of times.
WHEN SUCH days come,
THEY'D BE no man.
COULD TAKE the place.
OF LADDIE Boy.
OR WORK the cure.
THAT HE will bring.

I THANK you.

"IT IS ME" OPENS A MERRY WAR

By The Spectator

THE superintendent of the schools of Chicago, Edward J. Tobin, has stated that it is quite proper to say "It is me" instead of "It is I," and a merry war is being waged in the press throughout the country.

One side holds that "It is I" is correct, because it is in accordance with the rules of grammar. The other side contends that this sounds stilted, and that "It is me" is more pleasing to the ear.

Both are wrong.

They both err, in that they do not perceive what is the thing that makes good speech.

The true form and criterion of correct diction is—Custom. That is, the custom of the most intelligent people.

Language, like law, is simply fixed and hardened custom.

Language Makes Grammar

It is not grammar that makes language; it is language that secretes a grammar.

For instance, when Lowell speaks of "a book that is honestly come by," he uses a perfectly respectable phrase, but one which defies grammar. It is correct, not by rule, but because of common consent and usage.

It offends us to hear the gentleman from Texas inquire, "Mr. Speaker, where are we at?" But it surely is as grammatical to say "at where" as "in here" or "over there." There is just one reason why the locution is wrong; it is not used by the "best people."

Good language is the way cultured and educated people talk. If they make mistakes and take liberties with the King's English, so may we.

On the other hand, it is not custom, that is, any sort of custom, that determines what is good speech. We may have been mingling with the wrong set.

Deal of Snobbery

We may have been used to hearing folk about us all our life say: "I hain't nuther" and "Air you got ary ink in your pen?" But the trouble is that these people were hardly senators, diplomats, college professors and educated folk.

We have to admit that there is a deal of snobbery in deciding what is good English.

Language is a part of life. "Your speech betrayeth you." It is difficult to break yourself of ways of talking you learned when young.

The weight of the spirit of the English language (the Sprachgefuehl) is in favor of "It is me." Perhaps some day it will come into authoritative usage. Let us hope so. But for the present we shall have to stick to "It is I" until enough college folk and educational aristocracy have set us the example of the terser form.

HOW DO YOU START THE DAY?

How do you start your work in the morning?

Do you begin in a nervous, high-strung manner, giving little thought to anything but the job you must do first, or do you work in such a manner that your head plans into your hands efficiently?

In your wild efforts to get a lot done in a short time, you scatter things about and clutter up your desk, jump from one thing to another, permit little annoying things to get on your nerves.

If you work in this taut fashion you will be exhausted when quitting time comes and you will not have accomplished nearly as much as you might have done had you started your day in a more calm way, with prearranged plan so that you could carry along from one thing to another with no lost motion.

Those who accomplish the most do not dive from one thing to another.

They do not work under high pressure all the time.

Most of us do not think enough about our work, we turn out a fair quantity, but nothing like what it might be with more deliberation and determination to make each move count.

Fewer motions and less uselessly expended energy should be your aim.

Prevents Engine Stalling

An interesting device which operates like a clutch, holding the car in absolute neutral, is being marketed for Ford owners. The pushing down of a pedal locks the engine in neutral and prevents it from going into low speed, being automatically released by slight pressure on the speed pedal. It is claimed that this attachment not only obviates engine stalling, but enables a Ford to coast down-hill as freely as any other car.—Motor for March.

UNCLE SAM CONDUCTS RULE OF MERCY

By Edith Davids

MANILA, P. I., Dec., 1920.

SO few prisoners survived a long term in Bilibid, the great prison in this city, as it was conducted under Spanish rule, that the wives of men committed there were considered widowed and were free to marry again.

Only two years after peace was made with Aguinaldo in 1902, Cameron Forbes, afterward Governor-General, began at Iwahig, on the Island of Palawan, what has grown into the largest and most successfully managed penal colony in the world.

At San Ramon, in the Mohammedan country, another colony was established later through the efforts of General Pershing, then Military Governor of the Moro Province.

Head-Hunters

The head-hunters were dealt with wisely. Twenty-seven non-Christian tribes exist in these islands. Nearly half a million wild men inhabit the fastnesses of the Mountain Province of Luzon—the third largest province in the Philippines. Warlike Kallingas, whose name means "enemy," superbly tall and straight, their long hair streaming with scarlet and yellow plumes, their persons loaded with necklaces of agate; Ifugaos, dog-eating Bontoc Igorrotes; Apayaos and other fierce tribes; these annually took thousands of human heads at the time the United States assumed charge. According to their age-long tradition of the "debt of life," one violent death called for another.

Although head-hunting still goes on in the remote districts, the Americans have in twenty years weaned the wild men generally from the blood feuds of uncounted centuries.

In Spanish times hill dwellers who broke the law were confined in Bilibid, Manila. A term of a few years in the tropic lowlands to them meant a death sentence. The Americans have established a prison at Bontoc, the high capital of the Mountain Province.

Unique Prison

Iwahig prison colony probably has no counterpart in the world. Here eleven hundred convicts have home rule over one hundred thousand acres. It is largely self-governing, even the police force being composed of convicts. No attempt at escape has been made in five years. It is self-supporting.

When one considers that a large majority of these "colonists" were committed to prison for the worst crimes—among them are at present 490 manslayers and 215 brigands!—and that in ten years not a single man, after serving his sentence, reverted to a lawless life, one realizes what the United States has given the Philippines in this progressive penal system that remakes men and makes them free.

Stars and Stripes

In moulding conduct a little warm sympathy will do more than much cold logic.

To share a man's sorrow by merely weeping with him is but to help him celebrate his misfortune.

A balloon rises when it is lighter than its surroundings, a man only when he is weightier.

When a man sings his own praises the music may be monotonous, but the words are always original.

A failing man is glad to embrace that which he would not deign to touch when standing secure.

The man who shuns temptation too diligently has already surrendered to it in spirit, but fears the reckoning.

It takes two to make bad company.

Inefficiency has slain its hundreds; but indifference, its thousands.

Discontent arises not so much from the ill that befalls us as from the good fortune that visits others.

It took ages of evolution to set man on the throne of reason; but a single moment of passion can upset him.

Gambling is a heavy taxation on man's credulity.

Silence is a shield to fools, a servant to the wise, and a tonic to all.
